GOP Test Ban Skepticism Grows

But Democrats Predict Senate Will OK Treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic leaders predicted Tuesday that the Senate would ratify the limited test ban treaty, but Republican hesitation to jump to its support grew stronger.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., said after President Kennedy's weekly meeting with his legislative captains Tuesday that chances are excellent for prompt Senate ratification.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the assistant leader, told newsmen later that "by the time this treaty is through hearings, opposition will fade away like a raindrop on a hot July afternoon in Phoenix, Ariz." This was an obvious dig at Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a skeptic of the treaty, who is from Phoenix.

But Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, Iowa, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, announced they would refuse, if asked, to join any Senate delegation sent to Moscow to witness the signing of the treaty.

Not Ready

Both said this would commit them to supporting the treaty — a step they were not ready to take yet.

Mansfield said after Kennedy's meeting with Democratic House and Senate leaders that a Senate delegation might go to Moscow as early as "this weekend."

Although no invitations have been extended yet to possible members of the delegation, Mansfield said he expected Republicans to be included. Senate ratification, he said, would come "as soon as possible" with bipartisan support.

Humphrey said it would be "a singular tragedy for the nation and the Republican party to make this a partisan issue." He added, "I hope and pray they won't . . . it would be politically suicidal."

Holifield Comments

Calif. Rep. Chet Holifield, top-ranking Democrat on the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said meanwhile he would "hazard a guess" that a majority of the Joint Chiefs of Staff would support the treaty. The military leaders' opinion would weigh heavily in the Senate.

In a government Voice of America radio interview, Holifield said he would vote for ratification and predicted the Senate would, too, after a vigorous debate of about three weeks.

Plane Crashes After Collision

Rescuers probe through the wreckage of a twin-engine plane from the U. S. Planes Collide Near Allentown; 3 Perish

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (UPI) —Two Army officers and a private pilot were killed Tuesday in the collision of two planes near the northwestern edge of the city. Wreckage was spread over a wide area.

The pilot of the civilian craft, a Stinson, was identified as Fred W. Turner, 45, of RD 4, Flemington, N.J., an employe of Western Electric's Engineering Research Center at Princeton, N.J.

The officers were identified by the U.S. Army War College at Carlisle, Pa., as Maj. John R. Beler, 40, and Capt. Henry F. C. Gebelt, 35.

The War College said Beler and Gebelt, both married with children, took off from the Harrisburg-York State Airport on a practice flight in an L23, a twin-engined Beechcraft.

The planes collided over a cornfield and witnesses at first believed one plane had exploded in the air. Pieces of the planes were strewn over a mile-square area.

Two bodies, burned beyond recognition, were found near the fuselage of the Army plane. The other was found almost a mile away.

The Army said Beler, a native of Flushing, N.Y., was officer in charge of the War College Aviation Section. He lived with his wife, Irene, and two children, Lorraine, 16, and John, 12, at the New Cumberland General Depot. Tuesday was his birthday, the announcement said.

Tractor Driven Across Channel

DEAL, England (UPI) —Farmer - engineer David Tapp crossed the English Channel on a tractor Tuesday in 7 hours 50 minutes.

Hundreds of holidaymakers cheered Tapp as he drove his tractor out of the sea and up the beach at Kingsdown, two miles south of here. He entered the water at Pas de Calais, France.

The tractor was kept afloat in the channel crossing by a ballast tank and its four huge tires.

ALGIERS (AP) — A 15-member Soviet economic delegation has arrived in Algiers, reportedly to negotiate aid projects with Algerian officials.

U.S. Withholds Names Of 58 Cuba Visitors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department categorically declined Tuesday to reveal the names of 58 American students now visiting Cuba in defiance of a U.S. ban.

"All information concerning the students' travel is being collected and investigated by U.S. authorities," Richard I. Phillips, the State Department's official spokesman, told a news conference.

"Until that investigation is completed, the department does not plan to release the names."

Other officials indicated that the figure of 58 may not be final. There is some evidence that others have joined the group which evaded the travel ban by flying to Havana via Communist Czechoslovakia.

In another related development Phillips said accusations that Fidel Castro had selected half of the refugees who came to the United States on Red Cross ships were "academic."

The spokesman was asked about a charge made by Rep. William Cramer, R-Fla., who said such a deal was made with the Castro government.

Mystery Man Philby Given Soviet Asylum

MOSCOW (AP) — British mystery man Harold A. R. Philby, missing since last January, has turned up in the Soviet Union and been given asylum and citizenship at his request, the Soviet government announced Tuesday.

A former British Foreign Office employe, Philby, 51, disappeared last January from Beirut, Lebanon, where he was working as a reporter for the London Sunday Observer and the weekly Economist.

To suggestions that he had skipped into the Soviet Union to join the defecting British diplomats Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean, who came to the Soviet Union in 1951, the official Soviet government paper Izvestia replied with ridicule earlier this year.

But Izvestia on Tuesday carried on page 2 this inconspicuous announcement:

"British citizen H. A. R. Philby, who occupied a leading position in the British intelligence service, addressed the state authorities with a request for political asylum and the granting of Soviet citizenship.

"It has been made known that the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R. satisfied the request of H. A. R. Philby."

In London, a spokesman for the Foreign Office, where Philby worked until he was asked to resign in 1951, said it is unlikely the Foreign Office will have any comment.

In Parliament, Laborites had attempted to link Philby's disappearance with lapses in British security.

But the heat was suddenly taken off the case in mid-July by both Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Labor party leader Harold Wilson, who agreed that it would not be in the national interest to air the case.

This led to published newspaper speculation that he was acting as a double agent, spying for both the East and West.

Haney Succeeds Shorty Powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Haney, 35, veteran public information official for the U.S. space agency, has been named to succeed Lt. Col. John A. (Shorty) Powers as spokesman for the nation's astronauts, it was learned Tuesday.

Haney, a former member of the editorial staff of the Washington Star, will become director of public affairs for the Manned Spacecraft Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration at Houston, Tex., reliable sources reported. It was understood a formal announcement will be made by the space agency soon.

The fact that Powers was being replaced was confirmed last Friday by a NASA source who said Powers would remain at the Houston center but "not in public affairs."

Rumors of Powers' resignation —or removal — have been circulated since the 22-orbit flight of Air Force Maj. L. Gordon Cooper Jr. last May.

Peking Accuses Soviet Of "Selling Out" To U.S.

TOKYO, Wednesday (UPI) — Communist China Tuesday accused Russia of "selling out" to the United States and called for destruction of all nuclear weapons.

China said, however, it would continue to strive for its own nuclear arsenal in the meantime.

It said the partial nuclear test ban treaty initialed last week in Moscow was "a big fraud to fool the people of the world."

Peking called for an international summit conference "of every head of state in the world" to discuss a step-by-step method of destroying nuclear arsenals.

The blast at the Soviet Union was made in a formal government statement broadcast by the New China News Agency (NCNA) monitored in Tokyo.

China said the treaty increased the threat of war and declared China's adherence to it was "unthinkable."

The statement said the only way to prevent nuclear war was to halt ali nuclear testing, including underground tests, and for all nuclear weapons to "be completely banned and thoroughly destroyed."

It said the agreement was designed to "make China recognize the nuclear powers' monopoly of nuclear weapons and abandon its efforts in resistance to U.S. nuclear blackmail."

China called for dismantling of all foreign military bases, establishment of a nuclear weapon-free zones throughout the world and a summit conference of every head of state in the world.

Democrat Rooney Wins Pa. Contest

BETHELEHM, Pa. (UPI) — Democrat Fred B. Rooney, a state senator and Roman Catholic, Tuesday night defeated Methodist Sunday school teacher Robert G. Bartlett in a see-saw special election with religious overtones to fill the post of the late Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa.

Bartlett, a political newcomer, is a Republican.

Complete returns from the district's 240 precincts gave Rooney 50,321 votes to Bartlett's 42,298— an edge of 8,023 for the Democrat. Rooney reaped a 5,000-vote edge in Bethlehem, traditional key to victory in the district with its heavy Democratic registration.

Korea Raids Seen Prelude To Red Drive

Another American, Four Communist Intruders Killed

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Four North Korean intruders died violently Tuesday on a penetration six miles south of the armistice line in what could be the prelude of a new Asiawide Red offensive. U.S. Army patrols flushed them out.

An American soldier and a South Korean policeman were killed battling the raiders. The American was the third U.S. soldier to die in action near the demilitarized zone this week.

He referred to Red guerrillas in South Viet Nam and Laos as well as reports of a Chinese Communist buildup on the Indian border.

In Seoul and Tokyo there was speculation the sudden flareup along the 2½-mile-wide demilitarized zone dividing North and South Korea might be a North Korean-Chinese Communist scheme to sabotage concilatory moves between the Soviet Union and the United States.

The American slain Tuesday, Cpl. George F. Larion 24, Davison, Mich., was with a "shoot-to-kill" patrol tracking down infiltrating North Korean soldiers who sneaked across the line and killed two other U.S. soldiers from ambush Monday.

"Look under every bush," was the order as hunter patrols from the 1st Cavalry and 7th Infantry set out to stalk the heavy underbrush for lurking Reds in the area west of Panmunjom and about 15 miles north of Seoul.

The demilitarized zone was set up under terms of the Korean armistice reached 10 years ago last Tuesday. There are reported to be 350,000 Soviet-armed North Korean troops north of it. They have modern Russian-supplied air power and are backed by powerful Chinese Communist forces just north of the Yalu River.

Red Drive To Raise Asian Tension Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Tuesday linked the outbreak of sneak attacks in Korea, which have killed three Americans and a South Korean policeman, to a Chinese Communist campaign to increase tension in Asia.

State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips told a news conference "an intensive alert and search operation is now under way" along the U.S.-held sectors of the 150-mile long Korean truce line.

Phillips said "counter measures" are being discussed. He would not say what they involve.

High U.S. officials said that North Korea is now "lock, stock and barrel in the Chinese Communist camp and evidence of that fact is that Peking now has a puppet pulling the eagle's feathers."

Red Chinese pressure on North Viet Nam is also held responsible here for a high level of violent incidents reported in South Viet Nam over the last several weeks. American military adviser outposts have been the target of attacks.

The reported buildup of Chinese Communist military strength along the Indian border also was cited by Phillips.

U.S. Steel Earnings Highest Since 1960

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., industry giant, picked itself up from the profit floor in the April-June quarter to post the highest three-months earnings since mid-1960.

However, with production slipping badly in recent weeks, the outlook for the rest of the year is glum, Roger M. Blough, board chairman, told newwsmen.

Blough credited April price increases on selceted products with only a minor influence on second quarter earnings of $73.2 million, or $1.23 a share of common stock.

The figure was up sharply from the $28.9 million in the preceding three months, a 15-year low for first quarter earnings, and from the $40.2 million or 63 cents a share in the 1962 second quarter.

Lodge Endorsed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. was quickly approved by his former colleagues on the Senate Foreign relations Committee Tuesday as President Kennedy's new ambassador to troubled South Viet Nam.

Kennedys Get Blame For U.S. Race Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mississippi's chief legal officer said Tuesday President Kennedy and his brother, Robert, have used their high offices to stir up racial troubles.

He accused Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy of sending Justice Department agents into the South to incite racial violence, and said the President's brother has "demonstrated to the nation his immaturity, irresponsibility and fiendish delight" in wielding power.

State Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson's attack on the Kennedy administration drew a lecture from Sen. A.S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., presiding over a civil rights bill hearing, that Patterson had damaged his own case with "intemperate language."

Patterson said:

"I firmly believe that the present U.S. attorney general, with the approval of the President of the United States, is far more responsible for the racial violence and troubles we are having throughout this nation than the ruthless leaders who are sponsoring and promoting racial unrest."

"I make this charge," he added, "because I know as a matter of fact that down in my state agents and representatives of the U.S. Department of Justice are ever present where there is racial trouble and instead of working with the duly elected and responsible officials in an effort to prevent violence and disorder, these agents of the U.S. attorney general actually aid, abet and encourage violation of state laws and municipal ordinances, assuring the agitators that if and when arrested the Department of Justice will come to their rescue."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. said he was shocked by Patterson's attack on the President and the attorney general and said "we'd better not be diverted by this kind of personalizing."

Big Navy Plane Crashes; Seven Aboard Escape

GANDER, Nfld. (AP)—A U.S. Navy Super-Constellation practicing takeoffs and landings crashed at International Airport Tuesday and burst into flames moments after its crew of seven scampered to safety.

The aircraft was from Airborne Early Warning Squadron 13 and carried Capt. R. E. Larson of Chester, Iowa, commanding officer of the squadron.

Big 3 Pledge World Disarm Treaty Drive

GENEVA (AP) — The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union pledged Tuesday to continue working toward a worldwide disarmament treaty.

But there was no hint of agreement on the next step they should take following the Moscow accord on a partial nuclear test ban.

The three nations reported to the 17-nation disarmament conference on their test ban agreement and the text was entered into the record as the conference resumed after a six-week recess.

U.S. Delegate Charles C. Stelle and British Minister of State Peter Thomas said the Western powers are happy with the agreement to ban nuclear tests in space, in the atmosphere and under water, although they would have preferred a comprehensive treaty including a ban on underground tests.

Both Stelle and Thomas said their governments will continue to work for an underground test ban, despite the continuing Soviet objections to on-site inspection.

Soviet Delegate Semyon Kasrapkin said nothing about an underground test ban. He pressed instead for a nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic alliance and the Warsaw pact powers.

Children Picket Project; Carried Away By Police

NEW YORK (AP)—Children as young as the age of 2 were thrust to the forefront Tuesday in a continuing racial demonstration in Brooklyn for more construction jobs for Negroes and Puerto Ricans. Eighteen youngsters were carried away by police.

"This is the beginning of a stepped up campaign to make the public more aware of our fight," said the Rev. William A. Jones of the use of the children. He is a Negro leader in the Brooklyn demonstrations.

Throughout the city in the past three weeks, there have been nearly 700 arrests as demonstrators sought to halt all publicly-financed construction unless guaranteed a quota of 25 per cent Negro and Puerto Rican employment in the building industry.

Forty-one children previously had been carried away from the Brooklyn site of the Downtown Medical Center, a state-financed hospital. However, they had been picked up more or less singly as they demonstrated with their elders.

The latest batch of young pickets formed a children's blockade of their own in front of work trucks at the medical center. They looked on apprehensively as police approached them, but broke into grins when they were lifted into unmarked police cars. They were not booked or held, although those over 7 were listed for the attention of juvenile authorities. They ranged in age from 2 to 13.

BLFE Chief Says Union Studies Plan

Carrier Spokesman Has No Knowledge Of New Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, said Tuesday the railroads have given his union a new offer to settle the work rules dispute.

A spokesman for the carriers said he did not know of any new management proposal.

Gilbert, testifying before the House Commerce Committee, said of the reported new plan:

"I don't know what's in it. I only know it arrived at our office. It's the first proposal to come from them (the railroads) in four years."

The management spokesman said that J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the carriers, had submitted a statement to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz on management's position on the issues in the four-year-old dispute which threatens to bring on a nationwide strike. But he said there was nothing "substantially new" in it.

Carriers' Statement Studied

Some light was shed on the conflicting statements after the committee's hearing was adjourned. A union spokesman said Gilbert and other union officials began a study of the carriers' statement which they said was transmitted to them by Wirtz. The spokesman said there would be no immediate comment from the union.

He described the communication as a restatement of position by the carriers — the first such in written form received from the carriers since 1959 when the work rules controversy began, he said.

The spokesman said the carriers' statement and similar statements from the unions were requested by Wirtz last Friday when mediating sessions with both sides were resumed at the Labor Department.

The group met through the weekend with no progress reported.

Bargaining Pressure Rises

Congress has been pressuring both the carriers and the unions to settle at the negotiating table, rather than force congress to pass President Kennedy's plan authorizing the Interstate Commerce Commission to hand down rulings on the proposed job-reducing work rules during a two-year period unless the issues were settled through bargaining.

The top Republican on the House Commerce Committee Friday urged more intensive negotiations by both sides.

"All means of voluntary collective bargaining have not yet been exhausted," said Rep. John B. Bennett of Michigan.

"The sky is not entirely black and I think I can see the light of the dawn—a turn for the better in our negotiations."

"In my judgment," said Gilbert, "the only solution to this case is to be found in collective bargaining—collective bargaining which has had a shot in the arm.

"That shot in the arm—that stimulus which our negotiations need—can be provided by Congress in the form of critical congressional scrutiny and appraisal of future tactics to press for compulsory arbitration of the dispute."

Cable Cuts KO 58,000 Phones

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) —Sabotage put 58,000 telephones out of service in six counties Tuesday and police arrested three striking telephone company electricians on charges of cable-cutting.

General Telephone Co. spokesmen reported 54,000 telephones out of service due to cable cuts in the Tampa area, and 4,000 were inoperable in the other five counties affected by the 20-day-old strike.

Federal mediators tried again Tuesday to get negotiations resumed between the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the telephone company. But the tension was heightened when police arrested George Raymond Smythe, 24, Donald Harold King, 25, and Harold Lloyd Earls, 39, all of Lutz, a Tampa suburb.

The three were charged under a state law making it a felony to cause damage in excess of $200 to any communications carrier.

Korea Raids Seen Prelude To Red Drive

Another American, Four Communist Intruders Killed

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Four North Korean intruders died violently Tuesday on a penetration six miles south of the armistice line in what could be the prelude of a new Asiawide Red offensive. U.S. Army patrols flushed them out.

An American soldier and a South Korean policeman were killed battling the raiders. The American was the third U.S. soldier to die in action near the demilitarized zone this week.

He referred to Red guerrillas in South Viet Nam and Laos as well as reports of a Chinese Communist buildup on the Indian border.

In Seoul and Tokyo there was speculation the sudden flareup along the 2½-mile-wide demilitarized zone dividing North and South Korea might be a North Korean-Chinese Communist scheme to sabotage conciliatory moves between the Soviet Union and the United States.

The American slain Tuesday, Cpl. George F. Larion 24, Davison, Mich., was with a "shoot-to-kill" patrol tracking down infiltrating North Korean soldiers who sneaked across the line and killed two other U.S. soldiers from ambush Monday.

"Look under every bush," was the order as hunter patrols from the 1st Cavalry and 7th Infantry set out to stalk the heavy underbrush for lurking Reds in the area west of Panmunjom and about 15 miles north of Seoul.

The demilitarized zone was set up under terms of the Korean armistice reached 10 years ago last Tuesday. There are reported to be 350,000 Soviet-armed North Korean troops north of it. They have modern Russian-supplied air power and are backed by powerful Chinese Communist forces just north of the Yalu River.

Red Drive To Raise Asian Tension Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Tuesday linked the outbreak of sneak attacks in Korea, which have killed three Americans and a South Korean policeman, to a Chinese Communist campaign to increase tension in Asia.

State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips told a news conference "an intensive alert and search operation is now under way" along the U.S.-held sectors of the 150-mile long Korean truce line.

Phillips said "counter measures" are being discussed. He would not say what they involve.

High U.S. officials said that North Korea is now "lock, stock and barrel in the Chinese Communist camp and evidence of that fact is that Peking now has a puppet pulling the eagle's feathers."

Red Chinese pressure on North Viet Nam is also held responsible here for a high level of violent incidents reported in South Viet Nam over the last several weeks. American military adviser outposts have been the target of attacks.

The reported buildup of Chinese Communist military strength along the Indian border also was cited by Phillips.

U.S. Steel Earnings Highest Since 1960

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., industry giant, picked itself up from the profit floor in the April-June quarter to post the highest three-months earnings since mid-1960.

However, with production slipping badly in recent weeks, the outlook for the rest of the year is glum, Roger M. Blough, board chairman, told newwsmen.

Blough credited April price increases on selceted products with only a minor influence on second quarter earnings of $73.2 million, or $1.23 a share of common stock.

The figure was up sharply from the $28.9 million in the preceding three months, a 15-year low for first quarter earnings, and from the $40.2 million or 63 cents a share in the 1962 second quarter.

Lodge Endorsed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. was quickly approved by his former colleagues on the Senate Foreign relations Committee Tuesday as President Kennedy's new ambassador to troubled South Viet Nam.

He accused Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy of sending Justice Department agents into the South to incite racial violence, and said the President's brother has "demonstrated to the nation his immaturity, irresponsibility and fiendish delight" in wielding power.

State Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson's attack on the Kennedy administration drew a lecture from Sen. A.S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., presiding over a civil rights bill hearing, that Patterson had damaged his own case with "intemperate language."

Patterson said:

"I firmly believe that the present U.S. attorney general, with the approval of the President of the United States, is far more responsible for the racial violence and troubles we are having throughout this nation than the ruthless leaders who are sponsoring and promoting racial unrest."

"I make this charge," he added, "because I know as a matter of fact that down in my state agents and representatives of the U.S. Department of Justice are ever present where there is racial trouble and instead of working with the duly elected and responsible officials in an effort to prevent violence and disorder, these agents of the U.S. attorney general actually aid, abet and encourage violation of state laws and municipal ordinances, assuring the agitators that if and when arrested the Department of Justice will come to their rescue."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. said he was shocked by Patterson's attack on the President and the attorney general and said "we'd better not be diverted by this kind of personalizing."

Big Navy Plane Crashes; Seven Aboard Escape

GANDER, Nfld. (AP)—A U.S. Navy Super-Constellation practicing takeoffs and landings crashed at International Airport Tuesday and burst into flames moments after its crew of seven scampered to safety.

The aircraft was from Airborne Early Warning Squadron 13 and carried Capt. R. E. Larson of Chester, Iowa, commanding officer of the squadron.

Big 3 Pledge World Disarm Treaty Drive

GENEVA (AP) — The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union pledged Tuesday to continue working toward a worldwide disarmament treaty.

But there was no hint of agreement on the next step they should take following the Moscow accord on a partial nuclear test ban.

The three nations reported to the 17-nation disarmament conference on their test ban agreement and the text was entered into the record as the conference resumed after a six-week recess.

U.S. Delegate Charles C. Stelle and British Minister of State Peter Thomas said the Western powers are happy with the agreement to ban nuclear tests in space, in the atmosphere and under water, although they would have preferred a comprehensive treaty including a ban on underground tests.

Both Stelle and Thomas said their governments will continue to work for an underground test ban, despite the continuing Soviet objections to on-site inspection.

Soviet Delegate Semyon Kasrapkin said nothing about an underground test ban. He pressed instead for a nonaggression pact between the North Atlantic alliance and the Warsaw pact powers.

Children Picket Project; Carried Away By Police

NEW YORK (AP)—Children as young as the age of 2 were thrust to the forefront Tuesday in a continuing racial demonstration in Brooklyn for more construction jobs for Negroes and Puerto Ricans. Eighteen youngsters were carried away by police.

"This is the beginning of a stepped up campaign to make the public more aware of our fight," said the Rev. William A. Jones of the use of the children. He is a Negro leader in the Brooklyn demonstrations.

Throughout the city in the past three weeks, there have been nearly 700 arrests as demonstrators sought to halt all publicly-financed construction unless guaranteed a quota of 25 per cent Negro and Puerto Rican employment in the building industry.

Forty-one children previously had been carried away from the Brooklyn site of the Downtown Medical Center, a state-financed hospital. However, they had been picked up more or less singly as they demonstrated with their elders.

The latest batch of young pickets formed a children's blockade of their own in front of work trucks at the medical center. They looked on apprehensively as police approached them, but broke into grins when they were lifted into unmarked police cars. They were not booked or held, although those over 7 were listed for the attention of juvenile authorities. They ranged in age from 2 to 13.

BLFE Chief Says Union Studies Plan

Carrier Spokesman Has No Knowledge Of New Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, said Tuesday the railroads have given his union a new offer to settle the work rules dispute.

A spokesman for the carriers said he did not know of any new management proposal.

Gilbert, testifying before the House Commerce Committee, said of the reported new plan:

"I don't know what's in it. I only know it arrived at our office. It's the first proposal to come from them (the railroads) in four years."

The management spokesman said that J. E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for the carriers, had submitted a statement to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz on management's position on the issues in the four-year-old dispute which threatens to bring on a nationwide strike. But he said there was nothing "substantially new" in it.

Carriers' Statement Studied

Some light was shed on the conflicting statements after the committee's hearing was adjourned. A union spokesman said Gilbert and other union officials began a study of the carriers' statement which they said was transmitted to them by Wirtz. The spokesman said there would be no immediate comment from the union.

He described the communication as a restatement of position by the carriers — the first such in written form received from the carriers since 1959 when the work rules controversy began, he said.

The spokesman said the carriers' statement and similar statements from the unions were requested by Wirtz last Friday when mediating sessions with both sides were resumed at the Labor Department.

The group met through the weekend with no progress reported.

Bargaining Pressure Rises

Congress has been pressuring both the carriers and the unions to settle at the negotiating table, rather than force congress to pass President Kennedy's plan authorizing the Interstate Commerce Commission to hand down rulings on the proposed job-reducing work rules during a two-year period unless the issues were settled through bargaining.

The top Republican on the House Commerce Committee Friday urged more intensive negotiations by both sides.

"All means of voluntary collective bargaining have not yet been exhausted," said Rep. John B. Bennett of Michigan.

"The sky is not entirely black and I think I can see the light of the dawn—a turn for the better in our negotiations."

"In my judgment," said Gilbert, "the only solution to this case is to be found in collective bargaining—collective bargaining which has had a shot in the arm.

"That shot in the arm—that stimulus which our negotiations need—can be provided by Congress in the form of critical congressional scrutiny and appraisal of future tactics to press for compulsory arbitration of the dispute."

Cable Cuts KO 58,000 Phones

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) —Sabotage put 58,000 telephones out of service in six counties Tuesday and police arrested three striking telephone company electricians on charges of cable-cutting.

General Telephone Co. spokesmen reported 54,000 telephones out of service due to cable cuts in the Tampa area, and 4,000 were inoperable in the other five counties affected by the 20-day-old strike.

Federal mediators tried again Tuesday to get negotiations resumed between the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the telephone company. But the tension was heightened when police arrested George Raymond Smythe, 24, Donald Harold King, 25, and Harold Lloyd Earls, 39, all of Lutz, a Tampa suburb.

The three were charged under a state law making it a felony to cause damage in excess of $200 to any communications carrier.

Job Of Erasing Quake-Killed City Pressed

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Battalions of fresh army engineers marched into Skopje Tuesday to put new muscle into the job of wiping the quake-killed city off the face of the earth.

They massed with picks and shovels to relieve workers exhausted after five steady days of grueling labor.

Explosions echoed through the bleak ruins as dynamite teams and wrecking crews pushed the all-out drive to clean up the death and waste of last Friday's earthquake.

For the first time, French disaster specialists reported no signs of life recorded on their rubble-probing sound recording machines.

Driven on by the threat of a possible typhus epidemic, the government ordered men and machines into action to get the job done quickly.

Fears of new earthquakes also spurred them. A new tremor during the night brought a half-demolished structure crashing to the ground. A dozen other tremors followed.

Authorities said that 70 residents oft he city were still reported missing five days after the quake. Nearly 1,000 bodies were recovered.

Police Arrest 52 Marchers

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (UPI) — Civil rights leader Aaron Henry and 51 other Negroes were arrested Tuesday in an anti-segregation march on Clarksdale's city hall.

Thirty-two of the demonstrators were halted in front of city hall, where the mayor and board of commissioners were holding their weekly meeting, and the others were arrested near a Negro church, police said.

The mass march was but one of two in the South Tuesday. At Charleston, S.C., a silent band of 129 Negroes paraded along King Street, pointing their fingers at segregated business establishments as they marched past.

There were also racial demonstrations in Gary, Ind., Ocala, Fla., New York City and Athens, Ga.

In Chicago, police stood guard at a previously all-white apartment building into which a Negro family has moved, and in Savannah, Ga., integrationists threatened to take their fight for desegregation 'back to the streets.'

Korean Ambush Wound Second For Baltimorean

ASCOM CITY, Korea (AP)—Pfc. William L. Foster has been wounded twice in Korea—once when he was 15, and again early Monday when the 26-year-old Baltimorean and two other American soldiers were ambushed in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

Foster enlisted in the Army at the age of 14. A year later he was returned home, a holder of the Bronze Star. When he was 18, he reenlisted for three years. He was called back to active duty again last year during the Berlin Crisis. He has been in Korea since December.

The lean, ebony-skinned soldier said he had been on stakeout duty in the demilitarized zone many times since he joined the First Cavalry Division last winter.

From his hospital bed he described the details of the North Korean sneak machine gun attack in which his two companions were killed.

"I don't remember much except the noise," he said. "I was sitting in the back seat."

"The first shot knocked me out I guess. I fell down across the back seat of the jeep. I remember the jeep rolling over and being under the jeep. I heard them firing from up on the road after the jeep stopped. I remember their hand grenades and I tried to get up, but I was under the jeep."

Killed in the attack were Pfc. Charles T. Dessart III of Drexel Hill, Pa., and Pvt. David A. Seiler of Theresa, Wis. Foster was shot in the back and right hand. He was also hit by shell fragments believed to be from grenades which exploded near the jeep.

Lt. Col. Harold Hamit of Mill Valley, Calif., commander of the 121st evacuation hospital at Ansom City, said Foster should recover and would be evacuated to the United States in about two weeks.

Three Girls Die In Virginia Fire

LORTON, Va. (AP) — Three teen-age girls died in a fire in their frame home early Tuesday. Four other persons escaped.

Dead were Patricia Ann Ennis, 16, her sister, Mable L. Ennis, 15, and their cousin, Mrs. Charlotte L. Jencks, 19.

Those who escaped were the sisters' two brothers, Vernon, 22, and Clarence, 33; Clarence's baby daughter, Cindy Ennis, 8 months, and Floyd Jencks, 22, husband of Charlotte.

William C. Ennis, 55, father of the Ennis family, was asleep at the time in a chair on the front lawn because of the hot weather.

Deputy Fire Marshal George H. Alexander said Clarence awoke, smelled smoke and went to another bedroom, where he awakened Vernon. The two brothers then groped their way down the stairs.

Jencks also awoke but was unable to awaken the women.

He grabbed Cindy, dropped her out a window to Vernon, and then jumped from the window.

Vernon drove in a dump truck 2½ miles to the Lorton firehouse to summon help. But the house was in flames when firemen from Lorton, Gunston and Mount Vernon arrived.

Drummond Conviction Upheld By U.S. Judge

NEW YOR K (AP)—A federal judge refused Tuesday to set aside the conviction of Navy Yeoman Nelson C. Drummond, found guilty of conspiracy to aid Soviet spies.

Judge Thomas F. Murphy, who presided at both of Drummond's trials, denied a motion by the convicted man's attorneys that the government had failed to prove that an overt act was committed.

Drummond, whose first trial ended in a hung jury, was convicted July 19 of conspiracy. Another charge of espionage was thrown out when the jury couldn't agree.

Pen's Colt Fans Help Baltimore Police Boys' Club

The prisoners have their own fan club, Colts Corral 954—named after the street address of the penitentiary—although they can't attend games in person.

Some of the tickets purchased by the prisoners will be sent home; others will be donated for use by other youngsters.

"What we are trying to do with our work in the Colts Corral is to change the bad image the public has about the prison and prison life," said George Eaton, an inmate who is president of the fan club.

Argentina Set To Lift Siege

BUENOS AIRES, (UPI) — The government plans Friday to end the state of siege which has been in force in Argentina nearly five years, it was reported reliably here Tuesday.

The action is expected to free from custody former President Arturo Frondizi who was deposed, arrested and deported by the Argentine armed forces in a coup nearly a year ago.

Frondizi is likely to try to launch a new political party for "moderate opposition" to the new government under President-elect Arturo U. Illia which is to be sworn in Wednesday.

Illia failed to get an electoral college majority in his own right after the recent election, but so many other parties have pledged their votes to him that selection is a foregone conclusion. Electors of the 23 electoral colleges will meet simultaneously Wednesday. The results, however, will be unofficial until congress ratifies them Aug. 12.

Ward Personal Life Not Issue, Jurors Warned

LONDON (AP)—Jurors in Dr. Stephen Ward's vice trial were admonished Tuesday by the judge to convict the osteopath only if they believe Ward profited from procuring and prostitution.

Bewigged, red-robed Justice Sir Archie Marshall said Ward's loose personal life was not at issue, but only whether he got money from the immoral acts of Christine Keeler, Marilyn (Mandy) Rice-Davies and other girls.

Justice Marshall recalled that the 50-year-old defendant's assortment of friends did not testify in his behalf. Yet, the judge said, there are in this city "many witnesses of high estate and low" who, if they had appeared, might have supported Ward's own story that he was a fake, not a procurer.

Ward is being tried on five charges of living off prostitutes and procuring underage girls. If convicted on all counts he could receive a maximum sentence of 25 years.

His case will go at least into an eighth day. The 63-year-old justice, proceeding carefully, still had more summing up to give when he adjourned the court until Wednesday.

"Chicken War" Reprisal Seen

BRUSSELS (AP) — Western Europe's Common Market Tuesday turned down American pleas to lower the customs duty on poultry.

This turn in the "chicken war" is widely regarded in the United States as a tipoff to the European attitude toward vital American farm exports, and U.S. reprisals are predicted.

The refusal came after hours of debate among foreign ministers and their representatives from the six Common Market countries — France, West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg.

They have had the issue before them for four months.

It was expected that within a week the United States would counter by raising its own tariff against some Common Market products. The problem is to find a product of comparable importance — about $50 million worth of trade a year.

American experts fear that what has happened to chicken exports over the past year may happen next year to $1.2 billion worth of American farm exports to Europe.

Among the items mentioned for reprisal have been French and German wines, and automobiles with air-cooled engines—the German Volkswagen, for example.

Fired NAAWP Official Offered Job By Negro Paper

GARY, Ind. (AP) — The president of a white protest group lost his job Tuesday because of segregationist activity, and immediately was offered employment by a Negro newspaper.

The job offer came as pickets from the recently formed National Association for the Advancement of White People started marching around a Catholic hospital which had agreed to a policy of nondiscrimination.

George Staab, 29, president of the NAAWP's Gary branch, was fired when he reported to work as an advertising salesman for the Suburban Herald Newspapers. He said editor Leigh Plummer told him he was being discharged for NAAWP activities.

Staab, father of two, did not indicate whether he would accept a job with Info, a new Negro weekly published in this northwestern Indiana steel center.

Martha Williams, city editor of Info and one of three Negro reporters present while the whites picketed, offered Staab the job as he supervised the demonstrations.

The NAAWP was protesting an agreement reached Monday between Mercy Hospital and several civil rights organizations. The agreement said the hospital would not practice discrimination in any form for reasons of race, creed, color or national origin. Methodist Hospital agreed to similar terms Saturday.

It was expected that within a week the United States would counter by raising its own tariff against some Common Market products. The problem is to find a product of comparable importance — about $50 million worth of trade a year.

American experts fear that what has happened to chicken exports over the past year may happen next year to $1.2 billion worth of American farm exports to Europe.

Among the items mentioned for reprisal have been French and German wines, and automobiles with air-cooled engines—the German Volkswagen, for example.

Fired NAAWP Official Offered Job By Negro Paper

GARY, Ind. (AP) — The president of a white protest group lost his job Tuesday because of segregationist activity, and immediately was offered employment by a Negro newspaper.

The job offer came as pickets from the recently formed National Association for the Advancement of White People started marching around a Catholic hospital which had agreed to a policy of nondiscrimination.

George Staab, 29, president of the NAAWP's Gary branch, was fired when he reported to work as an advertising salesman for the Suburban Herald Newspapers. He said editor Leigh Plummer told him he was being discharged for NAAWP activities.

Staab, father of two, did not indicate whether he would accept a job with Info, a new Negro weekly published in this northwestern Indiana steel center.

Martha Williams, city editor of Info and one of three Negro reporters present while the whites picketed, offered Staab the job as he supervised the demonstrations.

The NAAWP was protesting an agreement reached Monday between Mercy Hospital and several civil rights organizations. The agreement said the hospital would not practice discrimination in any form for reasons of race, creed, color or national origin. Methodist Hospital agreed to similar terms Saturday.

10 Are Indicted For $142,996 Bank Robbery

BALTIMORE (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted 10 persons Tuesday for the $142,996 armed robbery of a branch bank in Oxon Hill, Md., July 8.

Nineteen customers and six tellers were held at bay at the branch of the Citizens Bank of Maryland by four gunmen who thanked them for their cooperation as they left the bank.

The FBI said six of the accused, including three women, have been arrested and four other men are still being sought.

Agents have recovered $65,450 of the loot in Maryland, the District of Columbia, New York City and New Jersey, the FBI said.

All but one of the defendants were identified as Negroes.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert W. Kernan said each of the 10 was charged with bank robbery and with aiding and abetting the others in bank robbery.

The FBI said these six were in custody:

James Donald Davis, 29, of Washington, D.C., a fur salesman arrested July 11 at his home. Accused of driving a decoy car for the robbery, he was held in $20,000 bond.

Francis Emily Davis, 26, his wife, a business machine bookkeeper and the mother of a 7-year-old daughter. Accused of permitting use of her home by a gunman, she was held in $20,000 bond.

Roger John Ugaro, 24, of Orange, N.J., arrested July 14 at an Atlantic City, N.J., hotel. He was held in $50,000 bond.

John Kent Smith, 42, of Washington, D.C., a car repossessor arrested July 16. Accused of supplying cars for the robbery, he was held in $20,000 bond.

Bertha Jean Watts, 19, of Washington, D.C., arrested July 16 in the Washington FBI office after questioning. She was accused of signaling the getaway car and held in $20,000 bond.

Rosemary Spoone, 19, of Rockville, Md., a bookkeeper and the only white person among the 10 accused. Arrested July 24 in a Washington restaurant where she worked, she was accused of driving one of the gunmen to a railroad station to aid his escape, was held in $20,000 bond.

The FBI said the four for whom warrants have been issued are Warren Arthur Sims, 39, of Brooklyn, N.Y.; James Ross, 34, of Orange, N.J.; Roland G. Ghee, 34, of New York City, and Harry (Shorty) Goody Jr., 30, also of New York City.

Conviction on the indictment carries a maximum penalty of 25 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine for each person charged.

Maryland Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed sources say William D. Rogers, Washington lawyer, will become the first assistant to Teodoro Moscoso, coordinator of the U.S. Alliance for Progress Agency.

Rogers, who has been special counsel for the alliance, will succeed Graham Martin, nominated as ambassador to Thailand.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Authorities are searching for six narcotics users who escaped from the Spring Grove State Hospital in suburban Catonsville.

A spokesman for the mental institution said the patients were not considered dangerous. They escaped from the rehabilitation center early Tuesday.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A new threat has been posed to the long suffering golf widows who lose their husbands when the first ray of sunlight peeps over the fairway.

Baltimore City Councilman Leon Rubenstein has asked the Park Board to look into the possibility of installing lights at one of the public golf courses so hubbies can play at night.

Rubenstein said the General Electric Co. would survey the possibility free of charge.

Assateague Recreation Plan Given New Boost

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Federal plans for development of Assateague Island as a national seashore recreation area were given another boost Tuesday by a major Maryland agency.

The state planning department recommended to Gov. Tawes that Maryland support Department of Interior plans to acquire all of the 32-mile sand-spit south of Ocean City.

It said federal acquisition should include the northern nine miles presently planned as a state park and a $1.5 million toll bridge being constructed by the state and Worcester County, as well as the 14 miles of the Maryland portion of the island now held by private lot owners.

The lower nine miles of the island are in Virginia and contain a federal wildlife refuge, which the planning department said should be opened to broader public use.

The planning agency recommended that the state condition its approval on the federal government leasing back to the state the northern portion now planned as a state park and assuring that the development program for the rest of the island will be carried out within a reasonable period of time.

Gov. Tawes and other members of the Board of Public Works will discuss the proposal Wednesday with the state's congressional delegation in Washington. Tawes said a public hearing would be held before any final action is taken by the board.

The planning agency's endorsement was another step toward probable state backing of federal acquisition of the island. Every other major agency concerned with the problem has already endorsed it, including the State Board of Natural Resources and the State Economic Development Commission.

Tydings Will Attend Interpol Meeting Aug. 25

BALTIMORE (AP) — U.S. Atty. Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland will leave Tuesday to represent the Justice Department at the General Assembly of Interpol, the international criminal police organization.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said he also had asked Tydings to confer with chief enforcement officers of seven Middle Eastern and African countries on common problems of law enforcement and administration of justice. The countries are Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Israel, Senegal, Ghana and Guinea.

Interpol, first organized in 1923, is comprised of law enforcement officers from 87 countries. Previously, Justice Department delegates have been assistant attorneys general. Tydings will be the first district attorney named as a delegate.

Tydings has been briefed for three weeks by officials of the Central Intelligence Agency, American International Development, the State Department and the Treasury Department in preparation for the two assignments.

The 35-year-old Tydings has been the federal prosecutor in Maryland for 2½ years. He has also directed the Justice Department's work against organized crime in this district.

Panel To Settle Fair Art Row

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Commission for the New York World's Fair said Tuesday it would appoint a committee for arts to settle a growing hassle on what objects d'art should represent Maryland at the fair.

The aesthetic controversy arose last week when Baltimore Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin and Louis Shecter, an advertising executive, inspected the statues of Antoine Louis Barye, French sculptor, around the Washington Monument for possible exhibition at the Maryland Pavilion.

Shecter recommended that the massive Barye masterpieces should be crated and sent to the fair.

Bank Mergers Win Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comptroller of the Currency James J Saxon approved Tuesday mergers involving two Baltimore and two Hagerstown, Md., banks.

In both mergers, the Hagerstown banks will take the names of the Baltimore banks.

Today's hand came in the mail recently from a correspondent who was requesting adjudication. It seems that he and his partner bid six hearts and suffered a setback which was magnified by the fact that a six diamond contract could have been fulfilled with ease. The bidding proceeded as indicated in the diagram and, since there were errors on both sides, perhaps we had better analyze the sequence in detail.

The first mistake was committed by South when he jumped to three hearts. Altho he does have a long suit and considerable playing strength, he lacks the high card holding required for a jump rebid. Inasmuch as partner has made a response at the two level, he is not likely to drop the bidding abruptly and South should be content simply to rebid his suit.

The second mistake was North's. Having shown clubs on the first round, he should bid diamonds next. A four diamond call would not only give a better picture of his distribution but it would also serve to announce great strength, since it forces partner to the five level to show a mere preference for clubs. Had North bid four diamonds, South had a handy Blackwood call available to him, for, with his distribution, a diamond slam hinges merely on the number of aces partner has.

South could still have saved the day by bidding four diamonds himself over four clubs, for North would no doubt have then proceeded to slam in that suit. When South returned to four hearts instead, North finally bid five diamonds. By this time South probably took this call to be ace showing rather than a suit and he attempted to sign off at five hearts.

We cannot find it in ourselves to criticize North's final call for, after South had bid hearts so many times and with such enthusiasm, it was reasonable to assume that he had a solid suit. West opened the queen of spades against the heart slam and the defenders took one spade and one heart.

Secrets Of Charm

Breath Control

Although many ads very aptly describe the unpopularity of the woman with offensive breath, a number of women still ignore them. They may take innumerable baths and buy the most expensive perfumes. Yet their breath may be so bad that no one wants to come near.

Unpleasant breath need not be caused by improperly cleansed teeth or a mouth that isn't clean. The cause may be much more complicated. It may be that infected sinuses are giving off unpleasant odors. Or it may be that your tonsils need checking. Acid indigestion is still another cause. A dentist or doctor can soon find the root of the trouble. Whatever it is, the cause MUST be found.

Cleanliness is the foundation on which everyone builds personal appearance. And it's a great contribution to charm. Having a clean mouth cannot be stressed too strongly. The assurance of a pleasant breath is really a simple thing if there is nothing physically wrong with you. It really isn't much trouble to brush your teeth upon arising and retiring, as well as after each meal. Make it a habit.

You should have a "wardrobe" of brushes—several medium-hard and medium-sized brushes with good-quality bristles. In this way, you'll always have a perfectly dry brush ready for use. Dentists tell us that only a dry, stiff brush performs the work efficiently. Brush teeth straight toward the biting surface, both on inner and outer sides of teeth.

A daily use of dental floss does much to prevent decay and to freshen breath. Use a good mouthwash as an antiseptic or make one yourself. A half teaspoon of salt added to a glass of warm water is a recommended standby.

Make that desired loveliness a sure thing—you can't afford hit-and-miss! Get the exciting charm chart, "Your Thirty Days to Charm." A different beauty aid for every day of the month. Just send 10c and a stamped, return envelope to John Robert Powers in care of this newspaper.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married four years. We have a two-year-old son. The problem is tantrums—not the boy's, but his father's.

If Woodrow can't find what he is looking for he pulls everything out of the drawer and leaves it on the floor. Several months ago he broke his toe kicking the furniture. This spring he sprained his wrist punching a dent in the car because it was out of gas.

Last week when Woodrow got hold of a shirt with a loose button he tore the collar off and left the shirt in the refrigerator so I wouldn't miss it.

Woodrow left for work this morning without speaking because I washed a theater stub in his shirt pocket. I don't know how to deal with his temper. Can you suggest something?—MOLLY

Dear Molly: Deal with him as you would any child who has tantrums. Take all sharp objects out of his hands and ignore him.

Woodrow needs professional help but if you suggested it he'd probably have another tantrum.

Dear Ann Landers: I read where the woman from Atlanta who was named "Secretary of the Year" said a good secretary limits her personal calls to necessities and emergencies. She put it this way: "Remember, when you are in the office your time belongs to your employer."

I've been working here for three months. I, too, believe that a secretary's time belongs to her employer, but what can I do when an older woman wastes at least two hours of my day?

She babbles incessantly, gossiping and airing her family troubles, reporting in detail doings of her bridge club, droning on and on until I could scream. I don't want to tattle to the office manager yet thi bore reduces my productivity about 25 per cent. What can I do?

—FRUSS-TRAYTED

Dear Fruss: Have a ready phrase and rehearse it aloud so you can say it easily. Here's a sample: "Please save it for later. I'm terribly behind right now." Then continue to work.

If you repeat this five or six times (using precisely the same words) she'll get the picture and leave you alone.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me how to maintain a healthy balance between the possessiveness of my husband's family and the indifferent attitude of my own parents.

The possessive in-laws live out of the state. They are hurt if we don't send our children to them for one month every summer. They send the kids gifts galore and phone long distance every week just to talk to them. Frankly they overdo it.

My parents are just the opposite. They live nearby, but we don't see much of them. They have never offered to sit with the kids or even take them out for an ice cream cone.

I want our children to like both sets of grandparents the same. We hate for them to be "bought" on the one hand and ignored on the other. What do you suggest? —DOUBLE O

Dear O: You are not going to change either set of grandparents so don't try.

And you can forget about getting the children to like both sets of grandparents "the same." All people react to the treatment they receive and coaching from the sidelines is a waste of breath.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married four years. We have a two-year-old son. The problem is tantrums—not the boy's, but his father's.

If Woodrow can't find what he is looking for he pulls everything out of the drawer and leaves it on the floor. Several months ago he broke his toe kicking the furniture. This spring he sprained his wrist punching a dent in the car because it was out of gas.

Last week when Woodrow got hold of a shirt with a loose button he tore the collar off and left the shirt in the refrigerator so I wouldn't miss it.

Woodrow left for work this morning without speaking because I washed a theater stub in his shirt pocket. I don't know how to deal with his temper. Can you suggest something?—MOLLY

Dear Molly: Deal with him as you would any child who has tantrums. Take all sharp objects out of his hands and ignore him.

Woodrow needs professional help but if you suggested it he'd probably have another tantrum.

Dear Ann Landers: I read where the woman from Atlanta who was named "Secretary of the Year" said a good secretary limits her personal calls to necessities and emergencies. She put it this way: "Remember, when you are in the office your time belongs to your employer."

I've been working here for three months. I, too, believe that a secretary's time belongs to her employer, but what can I do when an older woman wastes at least two hours of my day?

She babbles incessantly, gossiping and airing her family troubles, reporting in detail doings of her bridge club, droning on and on until I could scream. I don't want to tattle to the office manager yet thi bore reduces my productivity about 25 per cent. What can I do?

—FRUSS-TRAYTED

Dear Fruss: Have a ready phrase and rehearse it aloud so you can say it easily. Here's a sample: "Please save it for later. I'm terribly behind right now." Then continue to work.

If you repeat this five or six times (using precisely the same words) she'll get the picture and leave you alone.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me how to maintain a healthy balance between the possessiveness of my husband's family and the indifferent attitude of my own parents.

The possessive in-laws live out of the state. They are hurt if we don't send our children to them for one month every summer. They send the kids gifts galore and phone long distance every week just to talk to them. Frankly they overdo it.

My parents are just the opposite. They live nearby, but we don't see much of them. They have never offered to sit with the kids or even take them out for an ice cream cone.

I want our children to like both sets of grandparents the same. We hate for them to be "bought" on the one hand and ignored on the other. What do you suggest? —DOUBLE O

Dear O: You are not going to change either set of grandparents so don't try.

And you can forget about getting the children to like both sets of grandparents "the same." All people react to the treatment they receive and coaching from the sidelines is a waste of breath.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Study Will Be Made Of New Sewer Plan

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday approved an advance of not more than $1,000 for a feasibility study for collecting the sewage from Cresaptown, Potomac Park, Bowling Green and Roberts Place areas and thence into the City of Cumberland sewage treatment plant.

Albert S. Paye, county engineer, said he had met with the County Sanitary Commission and outlined a plan whereby the sewage line would be linked with the communities and run through the Western Maryland Railway's tunnel under Knobley Mountain.

This would be 2,700 feet shorter than a route into Cumberland and connecting with an interceptor sewer on the West Side in the Kelly Boulevard section. Paye also said that it would eliminate costly installation of high lift pumps, which would have to raise the sewage through a force line about 200 feet. The new proposal would require only a 27-foot lift.

The Engineering Department of the railway has gone over the situation with Paye and tacit approval for the study given.

The idea of connecting on to the city's sewage interceptors in the South End near the end of the railway trestle or bridge from the tunnel is estimated to be less expensive than two separate sewage plants in Cresaptown and Roberts Place. It would also eliminate dumping of the effluent into the Potomac River, according to Paye.

The county commissioners inquired as to the cost to the users of the communities affected. Paye said that it would prove less expensive to the persons residing in the area from which the sewage would be collected.

The Knobley Mountain tunnel is about 1,200 feet in length. Paye said that there is a ditch along the tracks within the tunnel and the sewer line, which would be 12 inches in diameter, could be laid in this ditch. The sewer line would be strung along the railway trestle.

The sewer line would also be strung over the Potomac River at a point near the Knobley Mountain yards of the railway. There would be no costly rights of ways under the proposal by Paye.

Bids for the sewers and treatment plant for Bowling Green, Roberts Place and Potomac Park were opened June 17 by the County Sanitary Commission. Low bidders on Contract No. 1, for sanitary sewers and appurtenances, were Hout Construction Company and John I. Vandegrift Company, which made a joint bid of $435,297.50, the lowest of four received.

J. Ernest Wilson, trading as Wilson Construction Company, was low on Contract No. 2, for sewage treatment plant, interceptor sewers and sewage ejector station with a bid of $444,444, lower of two on this contract.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the Sanitary commission, said yesterday these bids have not been rejected. He explained that the commission has 60 days to act on the bids.

Fiscal Tax Year Slated For Adoption

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, yesterday read a letter from Albert Ward, director of the State Department of Taxation and Assessment on changing the tax year to conform to the fiscal year of July 1 to the following June 30.

Getty explained that Allegany County and eight other counties are taxing on a calendar year basis. The new regulation, passed by the last session of the Legislature, requires that all counties adopt uniform dates for finality of taxes, a fiscal tax year and a fiscal year.

In the late 1940s the county did adopt the uniform accounting procedure which set the fiscal year as listed above. At that time the taxable year was 18 months to conform to this procedure.

Getty said that the board could by resolution adopt the new procedures as of next July 1 and there would be no affect on the county receipt of tax funds nor on the taxpayer. The action in the 1940s in effect did what is required now. No taxpayer will pay more money in any given year under the new plan.

The new legislation repeals the discount and interest provisions of the county but the commissioners can keep these provisions merely by adoption of a resolution.

Subdivision Plans Get Approval

The new subdivision regulations presented to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners last Friday by the Planning and Zoning Commission were adopted yesterday by the county board.

The new rules for builders or promoters of subdivision will become effective September 15.

Action on adoption of the new regulations following several public hearings. Changes were made after these hearings and the Planning and Zoning Commission itself made a number of amendments to the original draft of the regulations.

The county board said that the regulations will eliminate many problems which have arisen in the past when indiscriminate building projects resulted in many problems, such as paving and width of roadways.

Men Plan Meeting

The Methodist Men of Flintstone Methodist Church will meet Saturday at 8 p. m. in the church.

Elks Outing Scheduled August 11

Plans will be made this week for the annual picnic of Cumberland Lodge 63, B.P.O. Elks, to be held Sunday August 11 at SS Peter and Paul picnic grounds, Mason Road, from noon to 6 p.m., according to Robert C. Hinkle, general chairman.

Hinkle said a committee meeting will be held at the Lodge Home Friday at 8:30 p.m.

In charge of various events are J. S. Stafford, recreation; J. M. Conrad, financial; Thomas G. Brooks, gate and credentials; Louis Hallberg and James Robinson, kitchen; Howard Taylor, games; J. W. Stotler and P. G. Stakem, refreshments; G. Edward Allen, grounds; Paul Mudge, public address system; and members of the general committee were listed as follows:

H. K. Skidmore, Glenwood Reel, John E. Byrd Jr., C. B. Holtzman, Herman Shank, Jack Paupe, Ted Ferrin, E. F. Appel, Salem Humbertson, J. H. Newhouse, W. F. Taylor, Robert I. Price, Bruce Duvall, Bruce Jenkins, John Vandegrift, Antone Struntz, Bernard Gillum, Melvin Wright, Benjamin T. Shaffer, Louis D. Metz, C. T. Mower, Robert C. Petersen and C. K. Helm.

Featured will be a softball game, horseshoes elimination contest, egg-throwing contest, sack race, three-legged race and special events for the ladies.

Hinkle said a ladies' committee is also assisting with arrangements.

The menu will include roast ox, baked beans, hamburgers, hot dogs, corn on the cob, cold cuts and other picnic fare.

Man Accused Of Assault

A 29-year-old Cumberland man has been arrested and charged with raping a 19-year-old local girl and is scheduled for a preliminary hearing Saturday at 10 a.m. in Fort Ashby.

Ernest G. Ashenfelter was arrested yesterday by City Police Capt. James E. Van after a West Virginia warrant was issued by Justice of the Peace S. L. Pyles in Fort Ashby.

Ashenfelter was lodged in Allegany County Jail overnight and was taken to Fort Ashby yesterday by Cpl. F. W. Armstrong of the West Virginia State Police and Keyser Sheriff Earl Kemp and is now in the Mineral County jail at Keyser.

The alleged incident occurred after midnight Saturday and City Police received a complaint from the girl's mother at 2:51 a. m. Sunday. The girl was taken to Memorial Hospital for examination.

The complaint alleged that the incident occurred along W. Va. Route 28, near Fort Ashby.

Court Of Honor Is Held By Keyser Scout Troop

KEYSER — Troop 98, Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by the Church of the Assumption, held a Court of Honor in St. Mary's Hall.

During the ceremonies the scouts were presented with the troop colors followed by a candlelight presentation of the Scout Law. Ceremonies were conducted by Eagle Scout Michael Wyatt and was directed by Scoutmaster John M. Minnich and Assistant Scoutmaster Joseph A. Celich. More than 40 parents and friends were present to witness the program.

Awards were presented by Mayor Harland C. Ridder of Keyser who has spent the last 15 years in area scouting, serving as a member of the Potomac Council in the Tri-Valley District.

Mayor Ridder first presented the troop charter to Scoutmaster Minnich and then presented awards to the following scouts: William Atkinson, Robert Fazzalore, Bernard Wolfe, Mark Dorsey, James E. Dorsey, and Kerry Miller. As the Scouts received their tenderfoot badges they, in turn, presented a miniature tenderfoot badge to their mothers. Second class awards went to Michael A. Celich with a first-aid merit badge; John E. Minnich with first-aid merit badge; Michael Miller and Domenic L. Raschella.

First class scouting award was given to Clifford Hemstock with merit badges for first aid and home repairs. Thomas Miller received merit badges for home repairs and photography and Wyatt received a merit badge for mechanical drawing.

During the Court of Honor Wyatt was also awarded a senior patrol leader's certificate. Patrol leader certificates were awarded to Domenick Raschella and John E. Minnich and instructor's warrants were given to Michael Celich and Clifford Hemstock.

Frostburg Rotary Club Marks 40th Anniversary

FROSTBURG—The 40th anniversary of the forming of the Frostburg Rotary Club was observed at its weekly meeting on Monday evening at Anton's Big Savage Inn.

Ivan C. Diehl, a past president and past district governor, was in charge of the program. Diehl related that the club was elected to membership in Rotary International on July 24, 1923 as club No. 1498. There were 20 charter members of which three are surviving. Two of the members, Clifton D. Jeffries and E. Irvin Prichard, gave short talks.

As Diehl traced the history of the club he had the presidents of 10, 20 and 30 years give brief resumes of their terms of office. They are Thomas Elias, Earl Brain and Harry Ort. President Thomas V. Baucom then told of the projects he would like the club to undertake during its 40th year.

The club was organized through the efforts of the Cumberland Rotary Club. The following members were present to extend the greetings of their club to Frostburg: F. Perry Smith, present governor of District 735, R.I., Miles Thompson Jr. and William Gilchrist.

At the present time the local club has 49 members, fifteen of them past president. Diehl is the only member to have served as a district governor.

Besides the Cumberland visitors others present were: Ronald Connor and Timothy Connor, Lonaconing; Francis McKenzie, Grantsville; Rev. Edward Knapp-Fisher, Pretoria, Republic of South Africa and Robert Renbarber, Morgantown.

A Rocketful Of Nonsense

National Aeronautics and Space Administration is having difficulties with Congress. Until this year the lawmakers have gone along with the outer-space program almost to the last jot and tittle, but a few days ago a Senate subcommittee cut $479 million out of the NASA budget.

This seems like a lot, but when compared to the $5.7 billion asked, it shrinks in size. Certainly it will not cripple the program, as the agency's chiefs contend.

What makes many persons suspicious about the need for all the NASA funds is one project the space agency currently is contracting for with the Columbia University journalism school. This, to cost $136,000, will survey NASA's public relations program to ascertain its shortcomings.

It is true that NASA has had difficulties in this field, but recently many of these have been ironed out in consultations between spacemen and newsmen. And it didn't cost $136,000.

The Columbia contract is a rocketful of nonsense and should be canceled. If there is that kind of money available, who knows how much more could be found in nooks and crannies. Maybe more than enough to make up the sum the Senate committee has trimmed from the space project's ever-zooming budget.

These Days

Preventing A Showdown

The worst aspect of our heavily emotional preoccupation with the integration issue is that it is almost certainly bound to be used to prevent a broad-scale political test next year between "liberalism" (modern statist style) and conservatism, or individualism. Unless there is a revulsion from current fashions in argument, nobody will be able to discuss any subject rationally until the first Wednesday after the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November 1964.

The difficulty of keeping a conversation — or a "dialogue," to use the current cliche—from descending immediately to the shouting stage was illustrated last week at the Governors Conference in Miami Beach. For example, when Governor Romney of Michigan tried at one point to canvass the subject of encroachment by the federal government on the state governments in matters of taxation and welfare programs, the response he got was a heavily loaded question, "Are you for Birmingham?" If Romney had not made a quick switch from problems that beset the community of Birmingham in his own state of Michigan, his answer might have been vastly misunderstood.

When Senator Barry Goldwater's name came up at the Governors Conference, it evoked a simplistic, or simple-minded, response. A single question was hurled at various governors repeatedly: "Do you consider Goldwater to be a segregationist?" Pat Brown of California said he did; Romney said he didn't know what Goldwater was; New York's Nelson Rockefeller ducked the question by observing that his good friend Barry had not extricated himself from the clutches of the radical right.

Nobody seemed to consider that it might be relevant to consult Goldwater's record in promoting integration in his home state of Arizona, or to quote the Senator's often-reiterated contention that the states should exercise moral responsibilities on their own. And certainly nobody cared to broaden the discussion of Goldwater's views to cover the Senator's attitude toward Cuba, taxes, radioactive fall-out, aid to education, or Secretary McNamara's ideas about running the Pentagon.

Since in a pre-election year politicians are bound to spend practically all their time either politicking or answering leading questions prompted by politicking, the Governors Conference might be written off as just one of those things.

Unfortunately, the idea that it might be good for all-around clarity to get a vote on the liberal-versus-conservative issue next year is also being shouted down at the grassroots. A businessman friend of mine who is a person of influence in the Reading region of Pennsylvania tried the other day to bring his daughter, a recent graduate of Smith College in Northampton, Mass., into an adult caucus on national politics. The girl objected to the very idea of letting Americans have a chance to express themselves by vote on the liberal-versus-conservative theme. When her father and her father's friends tried to draw her out on the subject of majority rule, she simply stuck to her feeling that it would be "bad" for everyone to allow a conservative to secure power even by a legitimate consensus of fifty-one per cent of the population.

The daughter's state of mind has her father worried about the anti-democratic implications of Ivy League college education.

"My daughter," he says, "considers herself a 'liberal.' So do all the teachers and educators who have influenced her into this frame of mind. As I define the word, they are not liberals at all. They are simply community casuists. They 'know better.' They want a dictatorship of the intellectuals. They will force us to be 'liberal'—as they define the term—even though they have to jail us to do it."

And what better way of preventing a democratic showdown next year between statist liberals and anti-statist conservatives than by making the race issue, as defined by those who consider Goldwater a segregationist, the single test in choosing candidates for both parties?

Test Ban Treaty Recalls Other Steps On Journey Toward Peace

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A lot of memories came crowding back as I listened to John F. Kennedy tell the nation that even if our goal of peace is a thousand miles away we have to take the first step.

I remembered many other first steps.

There was that of Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State under Coolidge, fretting, persevering, indefatigably working to negotiate a pact to outlaw war. I went with him to Paris to sign that Kellogg-Briand pact. He hoped and the world hoped it would be a long step toward peace.

Perhaps it was too long. But, anyway, I remember another Republican Secretary of State, Henry L. Stimson, when he tried to implement Kellogg's work. He went to London in 1930 to try to persuade the big powers to reduce their navies. I went with him, watched his patient, plodding, idealistic steps toward peace.

Later as the dictators of Italy and Germany worked against him, Stimson went to Geneva, even though the United States was not a member of the League of Nations. Republican isolationists didn't like it, but Stimson, a Republican, went anyway.

And at nights, facing the discouragements of old world diplomacy, Stimson couldn't sleep. He would look out at the poplar trees and see in the night the line of men from the fields, the factories, the sea, going forward; and the line of women, wounded men, exhausted troops falling back. A panorama of World War I in which he had fought lay before him. Most of his years had been given to trying to rebuild better understanding. And he had failed.

"How heavy," he wrote a friend, "a simple dove, bearing the olive branch, can weigh upon a man's wrist."

Years Of Agony

World War II broke after that—years of agony, years of suffering, years of death. John F. Kennedy, a young naval officer, knew something of that agony during a long tropic night in the South Seas. Nikita Khrushchev knew far more of that death and suffering during a freezing winter at Stalingrad when his country stood with its back to the wall, when his son was killed and when he occupied a dug-out which his own troops had time-bombed against the day when the Nazis would take it.

Came the end of the war, and new steps in the thousand mile journey, back toward peace.

I remember Jimmy Byrnes as Secretary of State at the Paris Peace Conference in 1946. He argued patiently with Molotov. Jimmy had a temper, but kept it under control—for the sake of that first step toward peace.

But Molotov did not want peace, and later Khrushchev told me some of the reasons why.

I remember another conference in Geneva—the summit meeting of 1955, after Stalin died and a new Red regime ruled in Moscow. Khrushchev came to Geneva. I remember how he stayed in the background and let Bulganin do the talking.

End Of Iron Curtain

That conference accomplished one thing — People to people friendship. The Iron Curtain was on its way down. People of the East and West could now talk to each other. It didn't seem like much, but to me it meant a lot. I had been writing about it, harping on it for a long time, talked to Ike about it even when he was President of Columbia. And eventually people-to-people friendship came to mean a lot to the world, for it began to show individual Russians and Americans that they could trust each other.

Came 1959 and the Camp David talks. Ike and Khrushchev seemed to like each other. Later Khrushchev told me he thought Ike was a man who sincerely wanted peace but couldn't control his own Administration.

At the Summit Conference in Paris in May, 1960, it looked as if he hadn't been able to control the U-2 spy plane and some of the people around him.

Basically Khrushchev was right about Ike. In his clumsy, sometimes faltering way, Ike did want peace. And his greatest disappointment was that failure.

John F. Kennedy, who picked up the pieces after him, thinking diplomacy was easy, also failed at first. His meeting with Khrushchev in Vienna was a miserable failure. He came home a shaken, discouraged man.

But he had won one victory which he didn't realize—Khrushchev's respect. "President Kennedy is a man you can disagree with but still respect," Khrushchev told me at the Black Sea in the summer of 1961.

He also told me, as we parted after two days' conversation: "Please see President Kennedy when you return and tell him everything I've said. Also tell him that if the United States and Russia stand together, no country can ever start war."

Some people critized me for believing Khrushchev meant what he said. But I still believe it. And the difference between the discouraging first steps toward peace taken by Kellogg and Stimson and Jimmy Byrnes, and the first step taken by Kennedy and Khrushchev is first, the fact that if two of the strongest nations in the world do stand together, no one can successfully start war; and second, both Khrushchev and Kennedy understand the horror of nuclear war.

Those two factors were not present in the days of those earlier faltering steps.

And that's why the Kennedy-Khrushchev first step in the 1,000 miles toward peace may succeed.

(Editor's Note—Whether it will succeed depends in part on the military. Drew Pearson will discuss this in an early column).

Church-State Separation Is One-Sided Affair

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There's supposed to be a "wall of separatoin between church and state" erected under the Constitution. At least so the Supreme Court of the United States has said. But something happened in Washington last Thursday which indicates that the wall apparently bars entry from only one side.

For while the government cannot direct what prayers, if any, shall be used in the public schools or institutions, the government presumably can be directed by the churches as to what laws shall be passed on any subject. Whether it is in the field of "conscience" or "commerce," the principal religious organizations of the nation now assert the right to interpret these words for themselves and to take part in the pressures being exerted in the lobbies of the Capitol to secure the enactment of certain laws barring racial discrimination.

Spokesmen for the three big national organizations of churches —Catholic, Protestant and Jewish —have just told Congress that all forms of racial discrimination should be abolished by law.

Three committees of Congress heard the arguments presented by the churchmen dealing with proposed legislation on "civil rights" in respect to retail stores, restaurants, hotels, and motels as well as discrimination in employment in various businesses, whether governmental or private.

In what was described by the church sponsors as "an unprecedented and indeed historic event," a formal statement containing identical words was read before each of three congressional committees. A Catholic clergyman representing the National Catholic Welfare Conference appeared before a Senate committee and said he spoke for his own and the two other church groups —the National Council of Churches and the Synagogue Council of America. The same declaration was read before another Senate committee the same day by a Jewish Rabbi, who, too, testified that he spoke for all three organizations. A Protestant clergyman likewise presented the same statement before a House committee in behalf of the three church groups. The declaration said in part:

"Major religious bodies hold simply that God created all men regardless of color, race or national origin, with equal rights and dignity. They affirm that differences among individuals stemming from such factors as heredity, education, cultural background and opportunities do not in any way affect basic human rights. Thus they have specifically condemned racial discrimination, segregation and prejudice as incompatible with the principles of faith in God."

But which church, if any, is to determine authoritatively for Congress what are the "principles of faith in God?" Although the three major church groups can send clergymen to the committees of Congress to tell them, in effect, that unless they pass certain laws, they will be violating the "principles of faith in God." Two atheists from Maryland recently persuaded the Supreme Court of the United States to rule that children in the public schools should not be allowed to pray or to express even in the vaguest terms their support for the "principles of faith in God." Spokesmen for various Christian and Jewish church groups welcomed the ruling.

So there appears to be a one-sided wall of separation between church and state. These controversies have not been confined to religious questions. Thus the social action department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference appealed in a public statement in 1947 to President Truman to veto the National Labor Relations Act passed by Congress. He did so, but it became a law anyhow as both Houses overrode the veto. This correspondent at the time called attention to attempts by this and other church groups to tell the government what laws should be enacted whether or not they touched religion. For nearly every subject can be rationalized as in some way related to "morals" or "consicence."

There has been as yet no referendum taken among the members of these churches throughout the country—approximately 116,000,000 according to the 1961 figures—to determine how a majority feel about the asserted right of the church organizations to speak for them on matters of legislation. Will some individuals risk "excommunication" if they take a dissenting view?

The campaign of some of the church organizations goes beyond mere statements to congressional committees. A commission of the National Council of Churches, a leading Protestant organization, has just issued a public appeal for 40,000 members to take part in person in the "March of Washington" on August 28. Many ministers, white and Negro, have already participated in the "demonstrations" in different parts of the country, and some have been arrested for disturbing the peace.

But the real significance of all the new developments is that there may be a movement started to permit intermarriage. What people in the south have always feared is that enforced social relationships between Negroes and whites of both sexes would eventually bring about intermarriage on a wide scale in America. This, to be sure, is at the root of the problem to mixing of races or social relationships in eating places, hotels and housing facilities. The expressed position of the churches today on racial discrimination could lead logically to a legal sanction of intermarriage or at least a declaration that for a state to forbid it is "a blasphemy against God."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

LEGISLATIVE TANGLE The legislative tangle in Congress brought on by President Kennedy's strong civil rights demands is assuming fantastic proportions.

White House strategy is to have the House act on the measure first, thus assuring the Senate, where the strongest opposition lies, that what it approves will become final law without the necessity of facing revisions in the lower chamber.

However, some House Democrats are balking at this approach, and they've been joined by a part of the House leadership. The difficulty lies in the fact that some House members from border areas could be defeated if they vote for too-strong a civil rights bill. These members are reluctant to be forced to vote on a strong measure, only to see their votes go for naught when the measure reaches the Senate.

The prospects are that the Senate will water down the bill considerably—with tacit administration consent—in order to obtain passage. Thus, a House member may be put in the position of having voted for a strong measure, only to see the administration and the Senate pull the rug out from under him.

A move is underway in the House to try to convince the administration that the Senate is the place for initial action—not the House. At present, they're making little headway with the White House and this fact, of itself, is creating mounting opposition to the entire Kennedy package.

This tangled situation is compounded by indefiniteness on the position that Republicans in Congress may take on the legislation. If they decide to go all-out for civil rights, they could provide the force for a strong bill; if they go for moderation, or obstruction, they could combine with Southern Democrats and kill all prospects of legislation this year.

LAS VEGAS, Nevada—The city is a stalk of asparagus in the bottom of a chipped bowl. It is surrounded by a lemon desert inside a rim of chocolate mountains. A century ago, the Paiutes ambushed the tourists in their covered wagons. Today, automation does the same work; 19,000 slot machines lie in wait for 14,500,000 palefaces in air-conditioned Cadillacs.

No one bets on the rising sun in Las Vegas because the 90,000 natives know that it is 8-to-5 that it will come up over Sunrise Mountain every morning. If it doesn't, somebody is tilting the planet. That, of course, is crooked. Gambling here is as wide open as a rattan door after a hurricane, but it is also honest because the men who run it know that they can become rich on a house edge ranging between 7 and 10 per cent.

Betting is Nevada's biggest industry. About $300,000,000 will be wagered this year. Prim old ladies stand before nickel slot machines in grocery stores flexing their muscles and watching the spinning cherries and lemons stop in the wrong places. There are slot machines at the airport, in drug stores, arcades, lobbies, souvenir shops, barber shops, everywhere but in the Western Union office. It is assumed that penitents in that place are wiring home for more money.

There is a two-mile boulevard called The Strip. This is the lavish part of Las Vegas. On it are the big hotels: The Sands, Desert Inn, Tally-Ho, Tropicana, Hacienda, The Dunes, New Frontier, The Stardust, Riviera, Thunderbird and Sahara. Each spends between $50,000 and $80,000 a week for big lavish shows which can be seen free by guests.

The Stardust and Sahara take in more gambling money than the others, but Wilbur Clark's Desert Inn has a reputation for being a lucky place for the sporting crowd. It was at the Desert Inn that a young man picked up the dice, put down a dollar, and said he didn't know how to play.

He rolled 28 straight passes. Each time that he won, he took back most of his winnings and bet only a little. When he left, he had $750. Gamblers around the table who bet on the kid won $150,000. If he had let his winnings ride 28 times, the young man would have won $268,435,456, and would now own the State of Nevada.

From Las Vegas to Reno, 448 miles, there are 27,000 slot machines, but most of them are here. The Federal Government collects $250 per machine per year. The state, county and city take another $200. To earn this amount, plus a profit for the owner, the machine is kept working 24 hours a day every day.

Altogether, the gambling industry pays $13,600,000 a year in taxes and license fees. The highest salary ever paid to a performer was given to Liberace: $55,000 a week. All the big places are crowded, and most of them are building annexes. However, if the hotels earned nothing on the rooms, and nothing on food or liquor, they could still show a profit on roulette, blackjack, dice and jackpot machines.

The late Senator Pat McCarran was the man who lifted Nevada out of the mining and smelting business and literally put it in the chips. He nodded a gaming bill through the legislature at Carson City in 1935, and, within a short time, most of the compulsive gamblers were heading west. The rich stars and producers of Hollywood are 290 miles away, and the cloak and suiters of 7th Avenue are 2,000 miles east.

Both make this mecca regularly. Vegas is the only small city in the world with 10,000-foot runways for jets. The sun bakes the valley at 115 degrees in the summer, but no gambler gets out of bed to see it. The air is dry and healthful, but who wants to be healthy? Only golfers and beautiful girls in sun glasses.

Brigham Young sent Mormons here in 1855. They found the Nevada Desert to be rare indeed: gushing springs of water lie 30 feet under the hot sands and tumbleweed. They also mined lead, but found it to be of poor quality. It turned out to be almost pure silver. The Paiute Indians raided their crops and set fire to their farms.

There is more here than gambling. There are seven radio stations, three TV stations, six hospitals, good schools and 83 churches and 3,100 swimming pools. However, gambling is a blessing to Las Vegas and the state of Nevada. Because of it, there are no franchise taxes, no inheritance, corporate or personal taxes. Property tax is $5 per $100 of assessed valuation.

There are more silver dollars here than anywhere in the world. One gambler, armed with 20 of them and a plane ticket home, tried his final hours of bad luck at the Desert Inn craps table one morning. He ran the 20 dollars up to $75,000. A floor man reminded him that he barely had time to make his afternoon plane.

"You fellows are all alike," the gambler said. "Always trying to save the house some money. I'm sticking." He stuck. By sundown, he had lost everything and borrowed cab fare to get to McCarran Field. He arrived just in time to miss the plane. . .

Phlebotomy One Of Oldest Medical Procedures

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Bloodletting (phlebotomy or venesection) is one of the oldest medical procedures. It no longer is used in a wholesale fashion and the modern physician, in contrast to his predecessors, cannot be accused of causing more blood to be shed than was done by bullets and the sword. But phlebotomy still is employed in treating certain blood and heart disorders.

The value of this method in reducing the frequency of attacks of angina pectoris was investigated recently under modern conditions. Dr. George E. Burch and Dr. N. P. DePasquale of New Orleans found that bleeding improved some of their many angina patients.

Some had suffered from one or more heart attacks and developed chest pain even when resting in bed. Attacks of angina usuall are experienced on walking or becoming emotionally upset. If they come while resting there is more extensive involvement of the coronary arteries.

One of their patients, a 62-year-old man, had to be hospitalized because of severe chest pain. Distress was not controled by bed rest, sedatives, and drugs to dilate the coronary arteries. Tests showed that his blood was thicker than normal, which meant it had trouble flowing through the narrowed coronary arteries. After removal of ½ pint of blood there was definite improvement. The frequency of bouts of chest pain decreased.

Another man had such severe persistent discomfort beneath the breastbone, narcotics were required for relief. Almost a pint of his thickened blood was removed to eliminate the more solid constituents. Pain subsided and, two months later, he still was free of symptoms.

The value of phlebotomy is related to blood viscsity. The aim is to reduce the energy needed to force the blood past the narrowed segments of the coronary arteries.

INSULIN AND DIABETES

L. M. writes: Is it possible to stop taking insulin injections after the sugar is under control? I'm 50 years old and the disease has just been discovered.

REPLY

Yes. Physicians often switch to the tablets after diabetes is under control, provided the insulin dosage is less than 40 units.

HIGH CHOLESTEROL

M. S. writes: What is the reaction of the body to a high percentage of cholesterol?

REPLY

The individual feels no different whether the level in the blood is high, low, or normal. Some persons with a high percentage develop skin lesions filled with deposits of cholesterol.

SWIMMING AFTER INFECTION

E. T. writes: I had a middle ear infection 1½ years ago. When the doctor cleared it up he said not to go swimming. Do you think it would be safe for me to swim this summer?

REPLY

Yes, provided the drum in the involved ear is closed.

TOMORROW: Stress from excessive heat.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A young Polish lad came over to the U. S. A. in the steerage in 1923. Now, forty years later, he was living in great luxury in Miami Beach. "Only in America could a thing like this happen," he exulted to a new acquaintance. "Forty years ago I didn't have a penny to my name. Today I'm a partner of the firm of Hortwitz and McCarthy. And this is the most wonderful part of all: I'm McCarthy!"

Caskie Stinnett reports that the proprietor of a back-date magazine shop had a visit recently from a very young doctor, who had just hung out his shingle, and who was in search of a pile of magazines "at least five years old." Asked if he wanted any particular periodical, the doctor explained, "I just want something suitable for my waiting room. Look: if you had just started practice, would YOU want all your patients to know it?"

Robert Q. Lewis explained what's eating a frequently sozzled Broadway actor: he has the bourbonic plague. Robert Q. also defines a pessimist as a noodnik who, when opportunity knocks, complains about the noise.

A Rocketful Of Nonsense

National Aeronautics and Space Administration is having difficulties with Congress. Until this year the lawmakers have gone along with the outer-space program almost to the last jot and tittle, but a few days ago a Senate subcommittee cut $479 million out of the NASA budget.

This seems like a lot, but when compared to the $5.7 billion asked, it shrinks in size. Certainly it will not cripple the program, as the agency's chiefs contend.

What makes many persons suspicious about the need for all the NASA funds is one project the space agency currently is contracting for with the Columbia University journalism school. This, to cost $136,000, will survey NASA's public relations program to ascertain its shortcomings.

It is true that NASA has had difficulties in this field, but recently many of these have been ironed out in consultations between spacemen and newsmen. And it didn't cost $136,000.

The Columbia contract is a rocketful of nonsense and should be canceled. If there is that kind of money available, who knows how much more could be found in nooks and crannies. Maybe more than enough to make up the sum the Senate committee has trimmed from the space project's ever-zooming budget.

These Days

Preventing A Showdown

The worst aspect of our heavily emotional preoccupation with the integration issue is that it is almost certainly bound to be used to prevent a broad-scale political test next year between "liberalism" (modern statist style) and conservatism, or individualism. Unless there is a revulsion from current fashions in argument, nobody will be able to discuss any subject rationally until the first Wednesday after the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November 1964.

The difficulty of keeping a conversation — or a "dialogue," to use the current cliche—from descending immediately to the shouting stage was illustrated last week at the Governors Conference in Miami Beach. For example, when Governor Romney of Michigan tried at one point to canvass the subject of encroachment by the federal government on the state governments in matters of taxation and welfare programs, the response he got was a heavily loaded question, "Are you for Birmingham?" If Romney had not made a quick switch from problems that beset the community of Birmingham in his own state of Michigan, his answer might have been vastly misunderstood.

When Senator Barry Goldwater's name came up at the Governors Conference, it evoked a simplistic, or simple-minded, response. A single question was hurled at various governors repeatedly: "Do you consider Goldwater to be a segregationist?" Pat Brown of California said he did; Romney said he didn't know what Goldwater was; New York's Nelson Rockefeller ducked the question by observing that his good friend Barry had not extricated himself from the clutches of the radical right.

Nobody seemed to consider that it might be relevant to consult Goldwater's record in promoting integration in his home state of Arizona, or to quote the Senator's often-reiterated contention that the states should exercise moral responsibilities on their own. And certainly nobody cared to broaden the discussion of Goldwater's views to cover the Senator's attitude toward Cuba, taxes, radioactive fall-out, aid to education, or Secretary McNamara's ideas about running the Pentagon.

Since in a pre-election year politicians are bound to spend practically all their time either politicking or answering leading questions prompted by politicking, the Governors Conference might be written off as just one of those things.

Unfortunately, the idea that it might be good for all-around clarity to get a vote on the liberal-versus-conservative issue next year is also being shouted down at the grassroots. A businessman friend of mine who is a person of influence in the Reading region of Pennsylvania tried the other day to bring his daughter, a recent graduate of Smith College in Northampton, Mass., into an adult caucus on national politics. The girl objected to the very idea of letting Americans have a chance to express themselves by vote on the liberal-versus-conservative theme. When her father and her father's friends tried to draw her out on the subject of majority rule, she simply stuck to her feeling that it would be "bad" for everyone to allow a conservative to secure power even by a legitimate consensus of fifty-one per cent of the population.

The daughter's state of mind has her father worried about the anti-democratic implications of Ivy League college education.

"My daughter," he says, "considers herself a 'liberal.' So do all the teachers and educators who have influenced her into this frame of mind. As I define the word, they are not liberals at all. They are simply community casuists. They 'know better.' They want a dictatorship of the intellectuals. They will force us to be 'liberal'—as they define the term—even though they have to jail us to do it."

And what better way of preventing a democratic showdown next year between statist liberals and anti-statist conservatives than by making the race issue, as defined by those who consider Goldwater a segregationist, the single test in choosing candidates for both parties?

Spokesmen for the three big national organizations of churches —Catholic, Protestant and Jewish —have just told Congress that all forms of racial discrimination should be abolished by law.

Three committees of Congress heard the arguments presented by the churchmen dealing with proposed legislation on "civil rights" in respect to retail stores, restaurants, hotels, and motels as well as discrimination in employment in various businesses, whether governmental or private.

In what was described by the church sponsors as "an unprecedented and indeed historic event," a formal statement containing identical words was read before each of three congressional committees. A Catholic clergyman representing the National Catholic Welfare Conference appeared before a Senate committee and said he spoke for his own and the two other church groups —the National Council of Churches and the Synagogue Council of America. The same declaration was read before another Senate committee the same day by a Jewish Rabbi, who, too, testified that he spoke for all three organizations. A Protestant clergyman likewise presented the same statement before a House committee in behalf of the three church groups. The declaration said in part:

"Major religious bodies hold simply that God created all men regardless of color, race or national origin, with equal rights and dignity. They affirm that differences among individuals stemming from such factors as heredity, education, cultural background and opportunities do not in any way affect basic human rights. Thus they have specifically condemned racial discrimination, segregation and prejudice as incompatible with the principles of faith in God."

But which church, if any, is to determine authoritatively for Congress what are the "principles of faith in God?" Although the three major church groups can send clergymen to the committees of Congress to tell them, in effect, that unless they pass certain laws, they will be violating the "principles of faith in God." Two atheists from Maryland recently persuaded the Supreme Court of the United States to rule that children in the public schools should not be allowed to pray or to express even in the vaguest terms their support for the "principles of faith in God." Spokesmen for various Christian and Jewish church groups welcomed the ruling.

So there appears to be a one-sided wall of separation between church and state. These controversies have not been confined to religious questions. Thus the social action department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference appealed in a public statement in 1947 to President Truman to veto the National Labor Relations Act passed by Congress. He did so, but it became a law anyhow as both Houses overrode the veto. This correspondent at the time called attention to attempts by this and other church groups to tell the government what laws should be enacted whether or not they touched religion. For nearly every subject can be rationalized as in some way related to "morals" or "consicence."

There has been as yet no referendum taken among the members of these churches throughout the country—approximately 116,000,000 according to the 1961 figures—to determine how a majority feel about the asserted right of the church organizations to speak for them on matters of legislation. Will some individuals risk "excommunication" if they take a dissenting view?

The campaign of some of the church organizations goes beyond mere statements to congressional committees. A commission of the National Council of Churches, a leading Protestant organization, has just issued a public appeal for 40,000 members to take part in person in the "March of Washington" on August 28. Many ministers, white and Negro, have already participated in the "demonstrations" in different parts of the country, and some have been arrested for disturbing the peace.

But the real significance of all the new developments is that there may be a movement started to permit intermarriage. What people in the south have always feared is that enforced social relationships between Negroes and whites of both sexes would eventually bring about intermarriage on a wide scale in America. This, to be sure, is at the root of the problem to mixing of races or social relationships in eating places, hotels and housing facilities. The expressed position of the churches today on racial discrimination could lead logically to a legal sanction of intermarriage or at least a declaration that for a state to forbid it is "a blasphemy against God."

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

LEGISLATIVE TANGLE The legislative tangle in Congress brought on by President Kennedy's strong civil rights demands is assuming fantastic proportions.

White House strategy is to have the House act on the measure first, thus assuring the Senate, where the strongest opposition lies, that what it approves will become final law without the necessity of facing revisions in the lower chamber.

However, some House Democrats are balking at this approach, and they've been joined by a part of the House leadership. The difficulty lies in the fact that some House members from border areas could be defeated if they vote for too-strong a civil rights bill. These members are reluctant to be forced to vote on a strong measure, only to see their votes go for naught when the measure reaches the Senate.

The prospects are that the Senate will water down the bill considerably—with tacit administration consent—in order to obtain passage. Thus, a House member may be put in the position of having voted for a strong measure, only to see the administration and the Senate pull the rug out from under him.

A move is underway in the House to try to convince the administration that the Senate is the place for initial action—not the House. At present, they're making little headway with the White House and this fact, of itself, is creating mounting opposition to the entire Kennedy package.

This tangled situation is compounded by indefiniteness on the position that Republicans in Congress may take on the legislation. If they decide to go all-out for civil rights, they could provide the force for a strong bill; if they go for moderation, or obstruction, they could combine with Southern Democrats and kill all prospects of legislation this year.

LAS VEGAS, Nevada—The city is a stalk of asparagus in the bottom of a chipped bowl. It is surrounded by a lemon desert inside a rim of chocolate mountains. A century ago, the Paiutes ambushed the tourists in their covered wagons. Today, automation does the same work; 19,000 slot machines lie in wait for 14,500,000 palefaces in air-conditioned Cadillacs.

No one bets on the rising sun in Las Vegas because the 90,000 natives know that it is 8-to-5 that it will come up over Sunrise Mountain every morning. If it doesn't, somebody is tilting the planet. That, of course, is crooked. Gambling here is as wide open as a rattan door after a hurricane, but it is also honest because the men who run it know that they can become rich on a house edge ranging between 7 and 10 per cent.

Betting is Nevada's biggest industry. About $300,000,000 will be wagered this year. Prim old ladies stand before nickel slot machines in grocery stores flexing their muscles and watching the spinning cherries and lemons stop in the wrong places. There are slot machines at the airport, in drug stores, arcades, lobbies, souvenir shops, barber shops, everywhere but in the Western Union office. It is assumed that penitents in that place are wiring home for more money.

There is a two-mile boulevard called The Strip. This is the lavish part of Las Vegas. On it are the big hotels: The Sands, Desert Inn, Tally-Ho, Tropicana, Hacienda, The Dunes, New Frontier, The Stardust, Riviera, Thunderbird and Sahara. Each spends between $50,000 and $80,000 a week for big lavish shows which can be seen free by guests.

The Stardust and Sahara take in more gambling money than the others, but Wilbur Clark's Desert Inn has a reputation for being a lucky place for the sporting crowd. It was at the Desert Inn that a young man picked up the dice, put down a dollar, and said he didn't know how to play.

He rolled 28 straight passes. Each time that he won, he took back most of his winnings and bet only a little. When he left, he had $750. Gamblers around the table who bet on the kid won $150,000. If he had let his winnings ride 28 times, the young man would have won $268,435,456, and would now own the State of Nevada.

From Las Vegas to Reno, 448 miles, there are 27,000 slot machines, but most of them are here. The Federal Government collects $250 per machine per year. The state, county and city take another $200. To earn this amount, plus a profit for the owner, the machine is kept working 24 hours a day every day.

Altogether, the gambling industry pays $13,600,000 a year in taxes and license fees. The highest salary ever paid to a performer was given to Liberace: $55,000 a week. All the big places are crowded, and most of them are building annexes. However, if the hotels earned nothing on the rooms, and nothing on food or liquor, they could still show a profit on roulette, blackjack, dice and jackpot machines.

The late Senator Pat McCarran was the man who lifted Nevada out of the mining and smelting business and literally put it in the chips. He nodded a gaming bill through the legislature at Carson City in 1935, and, within a short time, most of the compulsive gamblers were heading west. The rich stars and producers of Hollywood are 290 miles away, and the cloak and suiters of 7th Avenue are 2,000 miles east.

Both make this mecca regularly. Vegas is the only small city in the world with 10,000-foot runways for jets. The sun bakes the valley at 115 degrees in the summer, but no gambler gets out of bed to see it. The air is dry and healthful, but who wants to be healthy? Only golfers and beautiful girls in sun glasses.

Brigham Young sent Mormons here in 1855. They found the Nevada Desert to be rare indeed: gushing springs of water lie 30 feet under the hot sands and tumbleweed. They also mined lead, but found it to be of poor quality. It turned out to be almost pure silver. The Paiute Indians raided their crops and set fire to their farms.

There is more here than gambling. There are seven radio stations, three TV stations, six hospitals, good schools and 83 churches and 3,100 swimming pools. However, gambling is a blessing to Las Vegas and the state of Nevada. Because of it, there are no franchise taxes, no inheritance, corporate or personal taxes. Property tax is $5 per $100 of assessed valuation.

There are more silver dollars here than anywhere in the world. One gambler, armed with 20 of them and a plane ticket home, tried his final hours of bad luck at the Desert Inn craps table one morning. He ran the 20 dollars up to $75,000. A floor man reminded him that he barely had time to make his afternoon plane.

"You fellows are all alike," the gambler said. "Always trying to save the house some money. I'm sticking." He stuck. By sundown, he had lost everything and borrowed cab fare to get to McCarran Field. He arrived just in time to miss the plane. . .

Phlebotomy One Of Oldest Medical Procedures

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Bloodletting (phlebotomy or venesection) is one of the oldest medical procedures. It no longer is used in a wholesale fashion and the modern physician, in contrast to his predecessors, cannot be accused of causing more blood to be shed than was done by bullets and the sword. But phlebotomy still is employed in treating certain blood and heart disorders.

The value of this method in reducing the frequency of attacks of angina pectoris was investigated recently under modern conditions. Dr. George E. Burch and Dr. N. P. DePasquale of New Orleans found that bleeding improved some of their many angina patients.

Some had suffered from one or more heart attacks and developed chest pain even when resting in bed. Attacks of angina usuall are experienced on walking or becoming emotionally upset. If they come while resting there is more extensive involvement of the coronary arteries.

One of their patients, a 62-year-old man, had to be hospitalized because of severe chest pain. Distress was not controled by bed rest, sedatives, and drugs to dilate the coronary arteries. Tests showed that his blood was thicker than normal, which meant it had trouble flowing through the narrowed coronary arteries. After removal of ½ pint of blood there was definite improvement. The frequency of bouts of chest pain decreased.

Another man had such severe persistent discomfort beneath the breastbone, narcotics were required for relief. Almost a pint of his thickened blood was removed to eliminate the more solid constituents. Pain subsided and, two months later, he still was free of symptoms.

The value of phlebotomy is related to blood viscsity. The aim is to reduce the energy needed to force the blood past the narrowed segments of the coronary arteries.

INSULIN AND DIABETES

L. M. writes: Is it possible to stop taking insulin injections after the sugar is under control? I'm 50 years old and the disease has just been discovered.

REPLY

Yes. Physicians often switch to the tablets after diabetes is under control, provided the insulin dosage is less than 40 units.

HIGH CHOLESTEROL

M. S. writes: What is the reaction of the body to a high percentage of cholesterol?

REPLY

The individual feels no different whether the level in the blood is high, low, or normal. Some persons with a high percentage develop skin lesions filled with deposits of cholesterol.

SWIMMING AFTER INFECTION

E. T. writes: I had a middle ear infection 1½ years ago. When the doctor cleared it up he said not to go swimming. Do you think it would be safe for me to swim this summer?

REPLY

Yes, provided the drum in the involved ear is closed.

TOMORROW: Stress from excessive heat.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A young Polish lad came over to the U. S. A. in the steerage in 1923. Now, forty years later, he was living in great luxury in Miami Beach. "Only in America could a thing like this happen," he exulted to a new acquaintance. "Forty years ago I didn't have a penny to my name. Today I'm a partner of the firm of Hortwitz and McCarthy. And this is the most wonderful part of all: I'm McCarthy!"

Caskie Stinnett reports that the proprietor of a back-date magazine shop had a visit recently from a very young doctor, who had just hung out his shingle, and who was in search of a pile of magazines "at least five years old." Asked if he wanted any particular periodical, the doctor explained, "I just want something suitable for my waiting room. Look: if you had just started practice, would YOU want all your patients to know it?"

Robert Q. Lewis explained what's eating a frequently sozzled Broadway actor: he has the bourbonic plague. Robert Q. also defines a pessimist as a noodnik who, when opportunity knocks, complains about the noise.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

Nobody has ever seen Irma because, like any ghost, she's invisible. Her presence is evidenced by the music coming from a piano which she plays.

A club member or guest has only to walk up to the piano, politely request a tune from invisible Irma, and "presto," the keys start moving as she plays the melody.

We visited the "Castle" with Bill Bixby, co-star of CBS-TV's new show, "My Favorite Martian." Our request of Irma for "Red Sails in the Sunset" was ably played by the ghost.

However, before she played, Irma was served a drink consisting of some white liquid in a glass. A straw was provided for Irma. The liquid disappeared from her glass as if she had sipped it through the straw.

The "Castle" is an old Hollywood house which has been redecorated as headquarters for the Academy of Magical Arts Inc., a group which performs slight of hand tricks and other magic. The house is decorated in late 19th century style.

Filmland celebrities have discovered the place as an evening's diversion. Some have joined the club, which now has a membership of 500.

Besides Irma the ghost, there are other "mysteries" at the club.

An old radio blares forth such pre-television programs as "Jack Armstrong, the All American Boy," along with Fred Allen, Joe Penner and others.

Bixby was asked if the radio doesn't really play recordings of those programs.

"No," he answered like a true magician. "You see, those old shows went out on radio waves in the atmosphere years ago. They're still out there. Our magicians here at the club can bring them back."

Club members frown on suggestions that Irma the tippling ghost and old radio programs might be explained in terms of electronic devices. Even a hint of such an attitude could lead to a member's expulsion.

The club has a "resident magician and host." He's Jay Ose, whose hands can perform amazing card tricks. Jay circulates around the clubrooms doing tricks for the guests. Other magicians, including the famous "Blackstone," also entertain.

The club sreves liquor but management never worries about anybody getting out of line. If a guest gets raucous, a magician simply makes him disappear.

Camera Angeles: John Gavin, now under contract to Revue Studios, has been set to star in a new hour - long western series, "Destry" . . . Television fans will see Carol Burnett in three special shows next year on CBS . . . Leonard Bernstein's New York Philharmonic young people's concerts will return to CBS-TV this fall for the seventh season.

PE Power Use Record Is Set

A new peak demand in the Potomac Edison System was established at noon Monday when customers in the four-state area served by the company used 400,000 kilowatts of electricity.

The increased demand was attributed to air conditioners and fans used in the 90-degree weather.

The previous peak was established last December 31 when 394,000 kilowatts were used in one hour. A 24-hour record demand was also established last December 31.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Soybean and corn futures ended lower while most other grains traded within narrow ranges Tuesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed unchanged to up ⅝, corn off ¾ to 1⅛, oats unchanged to off ¼, rye unchanged to up ⅜, and soybeans off ½ to 2¾

The government weekly crop bulletin indicating normal to better than normal soybean crop progress offset early firming effects of the weekly export figures. Liquidation by commission houses pulled prices down more than 3 cents a bushel from early highs

Wheat steadied on buying by mills.

The government reported continued improvement in corn crop development and prices weakened.

Stock Market Registers Best Advance In Month

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market reflected more genuine buyer interest and enthusiasm Tuesday than in many sessions.

Paced by industrials, the list scored its best advance in nearly a month and did it on increased volume, something rare of late.

The advance progressed steadily throughout the session, picking up steam in the final half hour—apparently after the Dow-Jones industrial average broke through the 695 level, a point which some chartists felt would be the signal for a trading rally.

Closing prices were around the day's highs and volume for the session of 3,550,000 shares compared with the 2,840,000 shares traded Monday and with the year's low volume of 2,510,000 shares last Friday when the market achieved rather lackluster gains. Tickers were running late at the close.

The steady flow of glowing second quarter and first half earnings reports was considered a substantial force behind the rise along with the renewed emphasis on inflation as a market factor, the latter bolstered Tuesday as the House Ways and Means Committee approved the Treasury request to extend the current national debt ceiling for three months beyond its scheduled Aug. 31 expiration.

The Dow-Jones industrial average rose 5.71 to 696.42, its best gain since July 2. Rails added 1.04 to 167.21, utilities 0.70 to 140.12, the 65 stock composite average 1.77 to 251.09. Standare & Poor's 500 stock index improved 0.57.

Of a total 1,268 issues traded, 690 were higher on the day, 37 to new highs, and 310 lower with 29 setting new lows.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

Nobody has ever seen Irma because, like any ghost, she's invisible. Her presence is evidenced by the music coming from a piano which she plays.

A club member or guest has only to walk up to the piano, politely request a tune from invisible Irma, and "presto," the keys start moving as she plays the melody.

We visited the "Castle" with Bill Bixby, co-star of CBS-TV's new show, "My Favorite Martian." Our request of Irma for "Red Sails in the Sunset" was ably played by the ghost.

However, before she played, Irma was served a drink consisting of some white liquid in a glass. A straw was provided for Irma. The liquid disappeared from her glass as if she had sipped it through the straw.

The "Castle" is an old Hollywood house which has been redecorated as headquarters for the Academy of Magical Arts Inc., a group which performs slight of hand tricks and other magic. The house is decorated in late 19th century style.

Filmland celebrities have discovered the place as an evening's diversion. Some have joined the club, which now has a membership of 500.

Besides Irma the ghost, there are other "mysteries" at the club.

An old radio blares forth such pre-television programs as "Jack Armstrong, the All American Boy," along with Fred Allen, Joe Penner and others.

Bixby was asked if the radio doesn't really play recordings of those programs.

"No," he answered like a true magician. "You see, those old shows went out on radio waves in the atmosphere years ago. They're still out there. Our magicians here at the club can bring them back."

Club members frown on suggestions that Irma the tippling ghost and old radio programs might be explained in terms of electronic devices. Even a hint of such an attitude could lead to a member's expulsion.

The club has a "resident magician and host." He's Jay Ose, whose hands can perform amazing card tricks. Jay circulates around the clubrooms doing tricks for the guests. Other magicians, including the famous "Blackstone," also entertain.

The club sreves liquor but management never worries about anybody getting out of line. If a guest gets raucous, a magician simply makes him disappear.

Camera Angeles: John Gavin, now under contract to Revue Studios, has been set to star in a new hour - long western series, "Destry" . . . Television fans will see Carol Burnett in three special shows next year on CBS . . . Leonard Bernstein's New York Philharmonic young people's concerts will return to CBS-TV this fall for the seventh season.

PE Power Use Record Is Set

A new peak demand in the Potomac Edison System was established at noon Monday when customers in the four-state area served by the company used 400,000 kilowatts of electricity.

The increased demand was attributed to air conditioners and fans used in the 90-degree weather.

The previous peak was established last December 31 when 394,000 kilowatts were used in one hour. A 24-hour record demand was also established last December 31.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Soybean and corn futures ended lower while most other grains traded within narrow ranges Tuesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed unchanged to up ⅝, corn off ¾ to 1⅛, oats unchanged to off ¼, rye unchanged to up ⅜, and soybeans off ½ to 2¾

The government weekly crop bulletin indicating normal to better than normal soybean crop progress offset early firming effects of the weekly export figures. Liquidation by commission houses pulled prices down more than 3 cents a bushel from early highs

Wheat steadied on buying by mills.

The government reported continued improvement in corn crop development and prices weakened.

Stock Market Registers Best Advance In Month

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market reflected more genuine buyer interest and enthusiasm Tuesday than in many sessions.

Paced by industrials, the list scored its best advance in nearly a month and did it on increased volume, something rare of late.

The advance progressed steadily throughout the session, picking up steam in the final half hour—apparently after the Dow-Jones industrial average broke through the 695 level, a point which some chartists felt would be the signal for a trading rally.

Closing prices were around the day's highs and volume for the session of 3,550,000 shares compared with the 2,840,000 shares traded Monday and with the year's low volume of 2,510,000 shares last Friday when the market achieved rather lackluster gains. Tickers were running late at the close.

The steady flow of glowing second quarter and first half earnings reports was considered a substantial force behind the rise along with the renewed emphasis on inflation as a market factor, the latter bolstered Tuesday as the House Ways and Means Committee approved the Treasury request to extend the current national debt ceiling for three months beyond its scheduled Aug. 31 expiration.

The Dow-Jones industrial average rose 5.71 to 696.42, its best gain since July 2. Rails added 1.04 to 167.21, utilities 0.70 to 140.12, the 65 stock composite average 1.77 to 251.09. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index improved 0.57.

Of a total 1,268 issues traded, 690 were higher on the day, 37 to new highs, and 310 lower with 29 setting new lows.

Milt Tosses Four-Hitter For 10th Win

Robinson Gets Three Of Birds' 18 Hits, Club High For Year

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles blasted out 18 hits, 15 of them singles, to back Milt Pappas' four-hit pitching Tuesday night and crush the Detroit Tigers, 9-0.

Brooks Robinson had three of the Orioles' hits, including his sixth homer, and drove in four runs while Al Smith had a double and three singles.

Pappas, in winning his 10th game of the year against five losses, hurled his second consecutive shutout and his fourth of the season. He has now given up a total of seven hits in his last two complete games.

He allowed four singles and permitted only one runner to advance as far as third base in Tuesday night's contest.

Robinson's two-run homer off loser Hank Aguirre (9-10) in the second inning started the Baltimore scoring. The Orioles then added six runs in the next three innings to put the game out of reach.

Tom McLuckie became the Rocking Chair League's first ten-game winner of 1963 yesterday as the Veterans of Foreign Wars downed the Moose, 6-3, at Stitcher Field to pull two games in front in the race for the RCL championship.

The Caseys nipped Rothe Heating, 1-0, in a pitchers' struggle at Post Field and Pittsburgh Plate Glass blanked the Elks, 6-0, at Fort Hill Field.

McLuckie, who has been beaten only once this season, trailed 3-1 going into the top of the sixth, but his mates put together five of their nine hits for four runs in that frame. The Vets have now taken three of four games from the Moose.

A single by Butch Johnson opened the VFW sixth, then McLuckie, Bobby Mundeno and Mil Dean crashed two-baggers to bring in three tallies. Jimmy Eckard singled to drive in Dean with the final run of the inning. Player-manager Cecil Grimes hit a bases-empty homer for the Vets in the seventh.

Eckard came through with three singles and also excelled defensively at shortstop for the league leaders. Johnny Price and Paul McGregor shared four of the losers' seven hits.

Don Decker (7-5) bested Nile Shuck (6-5) as the Caseys and Rothe obtained only seven hits between them. The winners were outhit, 4-3.

The only run of the game came in the top of the fourth when Bob Russell reached base on an error and scored on Harold Hudson's single.

Rothe's only scoring opportunity was thwarted in the bottom of the fourth as Basilio was thrown out at home plate by rightfielder "Bink" King attempting to score on a fly ball.

Bobby Goss, of Rothe, was the only player in the contest with more than one hit.

Allan Sheetz tossed a three-hitter for PPG and helped his cause at the plate with a pair of singles. Jim Baker also singled twice, and Clay Ingram smacked a triple for the Glassmen. Tom McConnell, with two singles led the Elks.

Blanchard Returns And Sparks Yanks' 4-Run Rally In 8th

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim Bouton pitched a seven-hitter for his 14th victory and Johnny Blanchard celebrated his release from the hospital with a tie-breaking eighth-inning single Tuesday night to lead the New York Yankees to a 6-2 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics.

The Athletics helped the Yankees sew up the game in the eighth inning as two wild pitches and an error by catcher Charlie Lau enabled New York to pour four runs across the plate.

The Yankee outburst ruined a fine pitching performance by Moe Drabowsky, who pitched a six-hitter for seven innings, but suffered his eighth loss of the sason.

Bouton, a dogged right-hander nicknamed the "Bulldog," struck out eight in raising his season record to 14-5. He and 16-game winner Whitey Ford are en route to giving the Yankees their first pair of 20-game winners since 1951.

Blanchard, who was released from the hospital Tuesday afternoon after a four-day battle with a bronchial condition, singled home the tie-breaking run before a single by Tom Tresh and a walk by Elston Howard. Lau's error, a two-run single by Clete Boyer, and a wild pitch by reliefer Johnny Wyatt helped the Yankees score three more runs before the inning was over.

Bobby Del Greco singled home the A's first run in the second inning and Wayne Causey hit his eighth home run of the season to tie the score in the third.

Manager John Daum's Lions Club tossers moved within a game of the front-running Outdoor Club in the Hots Division of the Hot Stove League by blanking the Elks last night in the first game of a twin bill at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 10-0.

In the nightcap affair, B'nai B'rith chalked up its fifth straight win by nosing out the Outdoor Club in a 4-3 battle.

Gene Wright twirled the Lions to their 12th victory in 20 outings, turning back the Elks with four hits while whiffing six to make his record 5-1 for the campaign.

A bases loaded double-play started by Wright in the 5th inning on a squeeze bunt preserved the win for the Lions.

Blair Norris led the Lions' attack with three hits in four trips, George Geatz for two-for-two and scored four runs and Wright also had a pair of safeties.

Both the Lions and Outdoor Club have only two more games on their regular season schedule.

Trailing 2-0, B'nai B'rith tied the score in the third inning when Bobby Nave hit a two-run homer and added single runs in the fourth and fifth to win the game.

Outdoor Club pitchers issued a total of 14 bases on balls and walked home the two other runs scored by B'nai B'rith.

Tommy Clay went the route for Manager Buck Gephart's team, scattered five hits, fanned 16, walked nine and posted his fifth win against four setbacks. Nave's homer and Clay's double were the only hits credited to the victors. Kenny Green blasted a homer and double for the O.D.C. Lefty Quentin Simpson was tagged with the loss, his third against seven triumphs.

Lemon Hits 3-Run Homer As Chicago White Sox Win, 5-1

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Veteran Jim Lemon cracked a three-run homer Tuesday night that paced the Chicago White Sox to a 5-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

For Lemon, it was his first home run since returning to the American League from the Philadelphia Phillies in mid-season. He connected off Don Rudolph with two aboard in the sixth to put the game on ice.

Mike Hershberger had staked the White Sox to an early lead when he singled home two runs in the third.

Young Dave DeBusschere was the winner although he needed ninth inning help from Jim Brosnan. DeBusschere now has two major league victories — both against Washington this year.

Minnesota Beats Boston Sox, 6-3

BOSTON (AP) — Veteran Vic Wertz delivered a bases-loaded pinch single that ignited a five-run sixth inning rally and gave Minnesota a 6-3 victory over Boston Tuesday night.

Wertz's hit, a line drive barely fair down the third baseline, came off reliever Jack Lamabe and tied the score 3-3. Another run came in on a wild pitch and Don Mincher later singled for two more off Wilbur Wood.

The Red Sox, getting to Twins starter Jim Kaat early, had a 3-0 lead after three innings, but lost the sting in their bats afterward.

Milt Tosses Four-Hitter For 10th Win

Robinson Gets Three Of Birds' 18 Hits, Club High For Year

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles blasted out 18 hits, 15 of them singles, to back Milt Pappas' four-hit pitching Tuesday night and crush the Detroit Tigers, 9-0.

Brooks Robinson had three of the Orioles' hits, including his sixth homer, and drove in four runs while Al Smith had a double and three singles.

Pappas, in winning his 10th game of the year against five losses, hurled his second consecutive shutout and his fourth of the season. He has now given up a total of seven hits in his last two complete games.

He allowed four singles and permitted only one runner to advance as far as third base in Tuesday night's contest.

Robinson's two-run homer off loser Hank Aguirre (9-10) in the second inning started the Baltimore scoring. The Orioles then added six runs in the next three innings to put the game out of reach.

Tom McLuckie became the Rocking Chair League's first ten-game winner of 1963 yesterday as the Veterans of Foreign Wars downed the Moose, 6-3, at Stitcher Field to pull two games in front in the race for the RCL championship.

The Caseys nipped Rothe Heating, 1-0, in a pitchers' struggle at Post Field and Pittsburgh Plate Glass blanked the Elks, 6-0, at Fort Hill Field.

McLuckie, who has been beaten only once this season, trailed 3-1 going into the top of the sixth, but his mates put together five of their nine hits for four runs in that frame. The Vets have now taken three of four games from the Moose.

A single by Butch Johnson opened the VFW sixth, then McLuckie, Bobby Mundeno and Mil Dean crashed two-baggers to bring in three tallies. Jimmy Eckard singled to drive in Dean with the final run of the inning. Player-manager Cecil Grimes hit a bases-empty homer for the Vets in the seventh.

Eckard came through with three singles and also excelled defensively at shortstop for the league leaders. Johnny Price and Paul McGregor shared four of the losers' seven hits.

Don Decker (7-5) bested Nile Shuck (6-5) as the Caseys and Rothe obtained only seven hits between them. The winners were outhit, 4-3.

The only run of the game came in the top of the fourth when Bob Russell reached base on an error and scored on Harold Hudson's single.

Rothe's only scoring opportunity was thwarted in the bottom of the fourth as Basilio was thrown out at home plate by rightfielder "Bink" King attempting to score on a fly ball.

Bobby Goss, of Rothe, was the only player in the contest with more than one hit.

Allan Sheetz tossed a three-hitter for PPG and helped his cause at the plate with a pair of singles. Jim Baker also singled twice, and Clay Ingram smacked a triple for the Glassmen. Tom McConnell, with two singles led the Elks.

Manager John Daum's Lions Club tossers moved within a game of the front-running Outdoor Club in the Hots Division of the Hot Stove League by blanking the Elks last night in the first game of a twin bill at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 10-0.

In the nightcap affair, B'nai B'rith chalked up its fifth straight win by nosing out the Outdoor Club in a 4-3 battle.

Gene Wright twirled the Lions to their 12th victory in 20 outings, turning back the Elks with four hits while whiffing six to make his record 5-1 for the campaign.

A bases loaded double-play started by Wright in the 5th inning on a squeeze bunt preserved the win for the Lions.

Blair Norris led the Lions' attack with three hits in four trips, George Geatz for two-for-two and scored four runs and Wright also had a pair of safeties.

Both the Lions and Outdoor Club have only two more games on their regular season schedule.

Trailing 2-0, B'nai B'rith tied the score in the third inning when Bobby Nave hit a two-run homer and added single runs in the fourth and fifth to win the game.

Outdoor Club pitchers issued a total of 14 bases on balls and walked home the two other runs scored by B'nai B'rith.

Tommy Clay went the route for Manager Buck Gephart's team, scattered five hits, fanned 16, walked nine and posted his fifth win against four setbacks. Nave's homer and Clay's double were the only hits credited to the victors. Kenny Green blasted a homer and double for the O.D.C. Lefty Quentin Simpson was tagged with the loss, his third against seven triumphs.

Blanchard Returns And Sparks Yanks' 4-Run Rally In 8th

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim Bouton pitched a seven-hitter for his 14th victory and Johnny Blanchard celebrated his release from the hospital with a tie-breaking eighth-inning single Tuesday night to lead the New York Yankees to a 6-2 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics.

The Athletics helped the Yankees sew up the game in the eighth inning as two wild pitches and an error by catcher Charlie Lau enabled New York to pour four runs across the plate.

The Yankee outburst ruined a fine pitching performance by Moe Drabowsky, who pitched a six-hitter for seven innings, but suffered his eighth loss of the sason.

Bouton, a dogged right-hander nicknamed the "Bulldog," struck out eight in raising his season record to 14-5. He and 16-game winner Whitey Ford are en route to giving the Yankees their first pair of 20-game winners since 1951.

Blanchard, who was released from the hospital Tuesday afternoon after a four-day battle with a bronchial condition, singled home the tie-breaking run before a single by Tom Tresh and a walk by Elston Howard. Lau's error, a two-run single by Clete Boyer, and a wild pitch by reliefer Johnny Wyatt helped the Yankees score three more runs before the inning was over.

Bobby Del Greco singled home the A's first run in the second inning and Wayne Causey hit his eighth home run of the season to tie the score in the third.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Veteran Jim Lemon cracked a three-run homer Tuesday night that paced the Chicago White Sox to a 5-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

For Lemon, it was his first home run since returning to the American League from the Philadelphia Phillies in mid-season. He connected off Don Rudolph with two aboard in the sixth to put the game on ice.

Mike Hershberger had staked the White Sox to an early lead when he singled home two runs in the third.

Young Dave DeBusschere was the winner although he needed ninth inning help from Jim Brosnan. DeBusschere now has two major league victories — both against Washington this year.

Minnesota Beats Boston Sox, 6-3

BOSTON (AP) — Veteran Vic Wertz delivered a bases-loaded pinch single that ignited a five-run sixth inning rally and gave Minnesota a 6-3 victory over Boston Tuesday night.

Wertz's hit, a line drive barely fair down the third baseline, came off reliever Jack Lamabe and tied the score 3-3. Another run came in on a wild pitch and Don Mincher later singled for two more off Wilbur Wood.

The Red Sox, getting to Twins starter Jim Kaat early, had a 3-0 lead after three innings, but lost the sting in their bats afterward.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ken Hunt singled across the clinching run in the 10th inning Tuesday night, giving the Los Angeles Angels their fifth straight victory, a 6-4 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

Hunt stroked his tie-breaking hit off Ted Abernathy with two out in the top of the 10th after a double by Felix Torres and an intentional walk to Leon Wagner.

Wagner came in with an insurance run on a bad throw by Max Alvis, who tried to get Hunt at second base after the relay in from the outfield.

Hermans Host Lonaconing In Pen-Mar Tilt

Lead Will Change Hands If Merchants Win, Old G's Lose

The torrid pennant race in the Pen-Mar Baseball League resumes today with front-running Mt. Savage playing host to Hyndman, Frostburg visiting Barrelville and the Cumberland Hermans facing Lonaconing at Municipal Field.

A victory for Frostburg coupled with a Mt. Savage defeat would move the Merchants into first place.

Only a half game separates Mt. Savage (16-7) and Frostburg (16-8) the first and second place teams in the league. Lonaconing (12-11) is third and Cumberland (12-12) occupies fourth place. Barrelville and Hyndman, tied at 7-16, are nine games off the pace and are out of the pennant race.

Lonaconing trails by four games with seven to play and Cumberland is 4½ games back with six games remaining on its schedule. The Hermans could take over third place by beating Lonaconing today.

Old G's Hold 3-1 Edge

Mt. Savage and Hyndman will be meeting in the fifth game of their series today. The Old Germans have won by scores of 4-1, 8-2 and 7-1 while losing 1-0.

Frostburg will be angling for its fifth straight victory at the expense of Barrelville, having already whipped the Old Exports by the scores of 9-2, 8-6, 9-3 and 3-2.

Hyndman jolted Frostburg last Saturday, 10-4, and the following day Frostburg spilled Mt. Savage, 7-6.

Hermans-Coney Even

The Cumberland - Lonaconing series stands at two wins for each team. The Hermans have won by scores of 1-0 and 13-7 while Lonaconing scored 6-2 and 4-2 victories over the locals.

Today's games are scheduled to get underway at 6 p.m.

A single game is billed for Saturday with Lonaconing carded to play at Mt. Savage at 3:30 p.m.

In Sunday contests, Frostburg opposes the Hermans at Municipal Park, Lonaconing invades Hyndman and Mt. Savage plays host to Barrelville at 2:30 p.m.

Joe 2nd, "Tee" 5th Grid Season Nearing

Don Saylor Visitor Warnick Reminisces

By C. V. BURNS

THE Hemmis Brothers—Joe and Clarence, better known as "Tee", take off for Michigan Thursday to compete in the national motorcycle hill climbing championships set for Sunday afternoon at Muskegon.

Joe and "Tee" finished second and fifth in the national point standings this year and will be among the 15 riders competing for the professional crown which Joe captured last year over the same course. Fifteen of the nation's top amateurs will also vie on the Muskegon program. Philip Petrick, of Allentown, Pa., led the amateur scorers in the U. S. this year with 116 points.

Since winning the national title a year ago, Joe Hemmis has participated in seven hill climbs at Hornell, N. Y., Dayton, Ohio, Bethlehem, Pa., Newark, Ohio, Washington and Bloomsburg, Pa., and Cumberland and has 83 points to his credit, ten less than Gordon Mitzel, of York, Pa., the national leader. "Tee" has amassed 55 points for the year.

Joe has participated in 15 national meets in the past 16 years and has copped three titles—the amateur in 1948 at Port Jervis, N. Y., and the pro championships in 1959 and 1962 at Muskegon. He also won the Canadian title at Kitchener, Ont., in 1959.

"Tee" took the U. S. amateur title in 1948 and bagged the Canadian crown two years ago. Their dad, Clarence W. "Tan" Hemmis won both national amateur events in 1946.

All of the nation's top 15 scorers eligible to vie at Muskegon, Sunday, have participated in local hill climbs in past years. They are:

1. Gordon Mitzel, York, Pa., 93.
2. J. W. Hemmis, Cumberland, 83.
3. Glenn Kyle, Goshen, N. Y., 79.
4. Paul Mayer, York, Pa., 60.
5. Clarence Hemmis, Cumberland, 55.
6. Charles Jacobs, Bangor, Pa., 49.
7. Kenny Hatton, Woodbridge, Ont., 42.
8. Willard Bryan, Groveport, Ohio, 32.
9. R. J. Nealon, Bedford, Ohio, 31.
10. R. C. Johnson, Columbus, Ohio, 30.
11. Andy Baycura, Pittsburgh, 27.
12. Louis Corriere, Easton, Pa., 25.
13. Clarence Eichner, Columbus, Ohio, 24.
14. Harold Werner, Easton, Pa., 16.
15. Howard Mitzel, York, Pa., 15.

DON SAYLOR, one-time assistant pro at the Cumberland Country Club, who now holds a similar post at the Burning Tree Country Club, paid us a visit the other evening and while discussing golf he recalled the days when he was on the team at Johnstown, Pa., high school and played against Arnold Palmer, who was then a member of the Latrobe (Pa.) High School team.

Saylor is assistant to Max Elbin, another CCC product.

"Was it as tough for you to win your 300th game as it was for Early Wynn?"

"Hell no," "Lefty responded, "Took me three turns and the third time I whipped Cleveland, 10-5. Relaxed all the way, too."

Lefty Gomez, sitting next to Grove, practically jumped out of his seat when he heard Grove say he was relaxed.

"You relax," Gomez said, "never. You didn't even relax pitching batting practice. I used to see you knock down your own batters, so don't give 'em that stuff about relaxing."

ONE MONTH from next Tuesday the football season opens here with Allegany hosting Bishop Guilfoyle High of Altoona, Pa., Friday, Sept. 6. Beall High entertains Petersburg's Vikings the same evening.

CECIL WARNICK, the well known deer hunter, bowler, former baseball player and umpire and foreman at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, calls our attention to the fact that Robert "Rab" Turnbull, 89, of Lonaconing, who died at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, on Monday, once served as the business manager of the Moscow baseball team on which Warnick played.

"Uniforms for that team were purchased from the Cleveland Indians and the one given to me was formerly worn by pitcher Wesley Ferrell," Warnick recalled.

Mr. Turnbull was a native of Scotland and his family once resided at Moscow. He was the father of Florence Turnbull, one-time Barton High School basketball star in the W.M.I. League.

Warnick also mentioned that Robert W. Matthews, 73, who died in Lonaconing last Saturday, was a brother-in-law of Lefty Grove, and they were once partners in the Grove and Matthews Bowling Alleys at Lonaconing.

I recall meeting Mr. Matthews at the pool room the year Connie Mack's Philadelphia A's returned from a trip to Japan and I went to Coney to interview the Great Grove.

One of Lefty's proudest possessions was a huge fielder's mitt presented to him by Japanese baseball admirers. Bob had this mit on display in the window of his pool room.

REMEMBER Bill Spivey, the former Kentucky cage great, who played with a pro team here and amazed fans with the ease in which he "dunked" the ball?

Bill, who is over 7 feet tall, plans to teach at Lackawana Trail High School, near Scranton, Pa., this fall, but not basketball.

ONE of the favorite stories told by Gene Gunning, editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times, who died last week, concerned the days when he was sports publicist at West Virginia University and Dr. Clarence "Doc" Spears was the football coach.

It seems that Spears was displeased by something that Gunning wrote in one of his press releases and as Gene was seated at a table in the dining hall eating his dinner, "Doc" walked in back of him, crammed a half cantaloupe over Gunning's head and as he retreated he remarked:

"Thanks for the nice write-up."

Gene recalled that incident recently when the name of "Doc" Spears appeared on the news wires.

JIM TATUM, the 16-year-old, 6-foot-6, 220-pound three sport star and academic brain at Woodberry Forest, is reported North Carolina bound.

The son of the mentor who put the University of Maryland in the football spotlight, is a senior tackle and end, featuring defense, for which his dad was noted.

BEDFORE a recent series with the Giants, the New York Met coaches were going over the San Francisco hitters with pitchers and catcher when Casey Stengel strolled in.

"Where did you decide to play McCovey?" he asked, "in the upper or the lower deck?"

Runaways Mark Pen-Mar LL Games; Tri-State Wins

Runaway marked yesterday's action in the Pen-Mar Little League, as Barrelville swamped Wellersburg, 22-4, and Corriganville crushed the Cresaptown Eagles, 19-1. In each case, the vanquished club was the home team.

Cresaptown Tri-State racked up its 15th straight victory, trimming the LaVale Orioles, 8-3, at Shehan Field.

John Helmick was a one-man wrecking gang for Barrelville, driving in 12 runs with three home runs, including a pair of grand slammers, and a single. Pitcher Kenny Blank rapped a homer and three singles. Larry Huffman obtained three of Wellersburg's five hits.

Lloyd Kline, Billy Kennell and Ricky Kauffman all tripled for Corriganville, and the latter also came through with a pair of singles. Wayne Miller tagged a double and single for the winners. David Brown and Larry Appel shared four of the Eagles' base knocks.

Tri-State's Ricky Wolford tossed a three-hitter and fanned ten as the Cresaptown outfit kept its slate clean. Rodney Long hit a double and single, and Donnie Pyles singled twice for Tri-State. Mike O'Donnell paced the Orioles with a two-bagger and single.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The American team that will defend its title against Great Britain in the 1963 Wightman Cup matches here Aug. 10-11 was announced here Tuesday.

It will include Darlene Hard of Los Angeles, Nancy Richey of Dallas, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., and Donna Floyd Fales of New York City.

Margaret Osborne DuPont, chairman of the Wightman Cup Committee, announced the selection of the team which will compete at the Cleveland Skating Club.

Cards Rehire Johnny Keane As 1964 Pilot

Manager And Devine Praised By Busch

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — St. Louis Cardinal owner August A. Busch Jr., Tuesday rehired manager Johnny Keane for the 1964 season and praised general manager Bing Devine, who works without a contract, for his job of rebuilding the team.

"I believe Bing and Johnny have done a remarkable job with the Cardinals this year on practically every level," Busch said, "that includes player procurement, player development and the management of the team itself."

Keane, 51, took over the Redbirds from Solly Hemus in July 1961 and has since piloted them to fifth and sixth place finishes.

This year the Cardinals have been in contention for the pennant throughout the season, despite the loss of such pitching talent as Larry Jackson and Lindy McDaniel who were dealt away in winter deals.

"Bing's trades and general leadership and Keane's field managing have, I believe, gotten the most out of the material available. It took a lot of courage on the part of Bing Devine to recommend giving up first-line players to plug the gaps in the Cardinal lineup," Busch said.

Keane, who has been with the Cardinal organization since he started in professional ball as a player and manager in 1930, piloted farm clubs for 17 years before finally making the big time. During that span he won five pennants, five playoff championships and one Dixie Series.

Reds Acquire Jim Coates

Assign Jim Owens To San Diego Club

Coates, a 6-foot-4, 180-pound righthander, went to San Diego early this month as part of the deal which sent Don Blasingame to the Washington Senators.

He will join the Reds in St. Louis Tuesday night where they open a three-game series with the Cardinals.

Coates, who will be 31 on Sunday, broke into the major leagues with the New York Yankees and during four full seasons from 1959 compiled a 37-15 record. He was traded to Washington after the 1962 season.

Owens, 29, used mainly in middle relief work by the Reds, had been obtained from Philadelphia last winter for infielder Cookie Rojas. Owens had an 0-2 mark with the Reds.

Los Angeles Swaps Roebuck To Senators For Marv Breeding

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Senators Tuesday announced a trade with the Los Angeles Dodgers that will bring the Senators relief pitcher Ed Roebuck and send infielder Marv Breeding to the Dodgers.

Roebuck, a right-hander, had a 10-2 record in 64 relief stints last year, but is only 2-4 in 29 games this season.

Breeding, 29, has batted .274 in 58 games. He has played at third and second base and shortstop.

Roebuck Fires Parting Blast At LA Skipper

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Veteran relief pitcher Ed Roebuck was traded Tuesday by the Los Angeles Dodgers to the Washington Senators and he let go a parting blast at manager Walter Alston.

"It's sort of sad to leave," said Roebuck, "but in another way it's almost like getting out of prison—getting away from Alston.

"The first part of the year it was Roebuck every day. Every game I've lost so far has been on errors—not that I've pitched that well.

"Then they didn't use me for two or three weeks. . .sort of sluffed me aside. And nobody said a word. Somebody could have told me, 'look, you did a job last year, so don't worry about it.' "

Roebuck, 32, had a record of 10-2 in 1962. His record this year is 2-4.

He was traded to the Senators for utility infielder Marv Breeding, 29, a .268 hitter, after waivers were obtained on both men.

Cubs Recall Koonce

Lead Will Change Hands If Merchants Win, Old G's Lose

The torrid pennant race in the Pen-Mar Baseball League resumes today with front-running Mt. Savage playing host to Hyndman, Frostburg visiting Barrelville and the Cumberland Hermans facing Lonaconing at Municipal Field.

Only a half game separates Mt. Savage (16-7) and Frostburg (16-8) the first and second place teams in the league. Lonaconing (12-11) is third and Cumberland (12-12) occupies fourth place. Barrelville and Hyndman, tied at 7-16, are nine games off the pace and are out of the pennant race.

Lonaconing trails by four games with seven to play and Cumberland is 4½ games back with six games remaining on its schedule. The Hermans could take over third place by beating Lonaconing today.

Old G's Hold 3-1 Edge

Mt. Savage and Hyndman will be meeting in the fifth game of their series today. The Old Germans have won by scores of 4-1, 8-2 and 7-1 while losing 1-0.

Frostburg will be angling for its fifth straight victory at the expense of Barrelville, having already whipped the Old Exports by the scores of 9-2, 8-6, 9-3 and 3-2.

Hyndman jolted Frostburg last Saturday, 10-4, and the following day Frostburg spilled Mt. Savage, 7-6.

Hermans-Coney Even

The Cumberland - Lonaconing series stands at two wins for each team. The Hermans have won by scores of 1-0 and 13-7 while Lonaconing scored 6-2 and 4-2 victories over the locals.

Today's games are scheduled to get underway at 6 p.m.

A single game is billed for Saturday with Lonaconing carded to play at Mt. Savage at 3:30 p.m.

In Sunday contests, Frostburg opposes the Hermans at Municipal Park, Lonaconing invades Hyndman and Mt. Savage plays host to Barrelville at 2:30 p.m.

Nicklaus has earnings of $79,590 and Boros has won $69,996.67.

SPORT SLANTS

By C. V. BURNS

THE Hemmis Brothers—Joe and Clarence, better known as "Tee", take off for Michigan Thursday to compete in the national motorcycle hill climbing championships set for Sunday afternoon at Muskegon.

Joe and "Tee" finished second and fifth in the national point standings this year and will be among the 15 riders competing for the professional crown which Joe captured last year over the same course. Fifteen of the nation's top amateurs will also vie on the Muskegon program. Philip Petrick, of Allentown, Pa., led the amateur scorers in the U. S. this year with 116 points.

Since winning the national title a year ago, Joe Hemmis has participated in seven hill climbs at Hornell, N. Y., Dayton, Ohio, Bethlehem, Pa., Newark, Ohio, Washington and Bloomsburg, Pa., and Cumberland and has 83 points to his credit, ten less than Gordon Mitzel, of York, Pa., the national leader. "Tee" has amassed 55 points for the year.

Joe has participated in 15 national meets in the past 16 years and has copped three titles—the amateur in 1948 at Port Jervis, N. Y., and the pro championships in 1959 and 1962 at Muskegon. He also won the Canadian title at Kitchener, Ont., in 1959.

"Tee" took the U. S. amateur title in 1948 and bagged the Canadian crown two years ago. Their dad, Clarence W. "Tan" Hemmis won both national amateur events in 1946.

All of the nation's top 15 scorers eligible to vie at Muskegon, Sunday, have participated in local hill climbs in past years. They are:

1. Gordon Mitzel, York, Pa., 93.
2. J. W. Hemmis, Cumberland, 83.
3. Glenn Kyle, Goshen, N. Y., 79.
4. Paul Mayer, York, Pa., 60.
5. Clarence Hemmis, Cumberland, 55.
6. Charles Jacobs, Bangor, Pa., 49.
7. Kenny Hatton, Woodbridge, Ont., 42.
8. Willard Bryan, Groveport, Ohio, 32.
9. R. J. Nealon, Bedford, Ohio, 31.
10. R. C. Johnson, Columbus, Ohio, 30.
11. Andy Bayecura, Pittsburgh, 27.
12. Louis Corriere, Easton, Pa., 25.
13. Clarence Eichner, Columbus, Ohio, 24.
14. Harold Werner, Easton, Pa., 16.
15. Howard Mitzel, York, Pa., 15.

DON SAYLOR, one-time assistant pro at the Cumberland Country Club, who now holds a similar post at the Burning Tree Country Club, paid us a visit the other evening and while discussing golf he recalled the days when he was on the team at Johnstown, Pa., high school and played against Arnold Palmer, who was then a member of the Latrobe (Pa.) High School team.

"Was it as tough for you to win your 300th game as it was for Early Wynn?"

"Hell no," "Lefty responded, "Took me three turns and the third time I whipped Cleveland, 10-5. Relaxed all the way, too."

Lefty Gomez, sitting next to Grove, practically jumped out of his seat when he heard Grove say he was relaxed.

"You relax," Gomez said, "never. You didn't even relax pitching batting practice. I used to see you knock down your own batters, so don't give 'em that stuff about relaxing."

ONE MONTH from next Tuesday the football season opens here with Allegany hosting Bishop Guilfoyle High of Altoona, Pa., Friday, Sept. 6. Beall High entertains Petersburg's Vikings the same evening.

CECIL WARNICK, the well known deer hunter, bowler, former baseball player and umpire and foreman at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, calls our attention to the fact that Robert "Rab" Turnbull, 89, of Lonaconing, who died at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, on Monday, once served as the business manager of the Moscow baseball team on which Warnick played.

"Uniforms for that team were purchased from the Cleveland Indians and the one given to me was formerly worn by pitcher Wesley Ferrell," Warnick recalled.

Mr. Turnbull was a native of Scotland and his family once resided at Moscow. He was the father of Florence Turnbull, one-time Barton High School basketball star in the W.M.I. League.

Warnick also mentioned that Robert W. Matthews, 73, who died in Lonaconing last Saturday, was a brother-in-law of Lefty Grove, and they were once partners in the Grove and Matthews Bowling Alleys at Lonaconing.

I recall meeting Mr. Matthews at the pool room the year Connie Mack's Philadelphia A's returned from a trip to Japan and I went to 'Coney to interview the Great Grove.

One of Lefty's proudest possessions was a huge fielder's mitt presented to him by Japanese baseball admirers. Bob had this mit on display in the window of his pool room.

REMEMBER Bill Spivey, the former Kentucky cage great, who played with a pro team here and amazed fans with the ease in which he "dunked" the ball?

Bill, who is over 7 feet tall, plans to teach at Lackawana Trail High School, near Scranton, Pa., this fall, but not basketball.

ONE of the favorite stories told by Gene Gunning, editor of the Cumberland Sunday Times, who died last week, concerned the days when he was sports publicist at West Virginia University and Dr. Clarence "Doc" Spears was the football coach.

It seems that Spears was displeased by something that Gunning wrote in one of his press releases and as Gene was seated at a table in the dining hall eating his dinner, "Doc" walked in back of him, crammed a half cantaloupe over Gunning's head and as he retreated he remarked:

"Thanks for the nice write-up."

Gene recalled that incident recently when the name of "Doc" Spears appeared on the news wires.

JIM TATUM, the 16-year-old, 6-foot-6, 220-pound three sport star and academic brain at Woodberry Forest, is reported North Carolina bound.

The son of the mentor who put the University of Maryland in the football spotlight, is a senior tackle and end, featuring defense, for which his dad was noted.

BEDFORE a recent series with the Giants, the New York Met coaches were going over the San Francisco hitters with pitchers and catcher when Casey Stengel strolled in.

Runaways Mark Pen-Mar LL Games; Tri-State Wins

Runaway marked yesterday's action in the Pen-Mar Little League, as Barrelville swamped Wellersburg, 22-4, and Corriganville crushed the Cresaptown Eagles, 19-1. In each case, the vanquished club was the home team.

Cresaptown Tri-State racked up its 15th straight victory, trimming the LaVale Orioles, 8-3, at Shehan Field.

John Helmick was a one-man wrecking gang for Barrelville, driving in 12 runs with three home runs, including a pair of grand slammers, and a single. Pitcher Kenny Blank rapped a homer and three singles. Larry Huffman obtained three of Wellersburg's five hits.

Lloyd Kline, Billy Kennell and Ricky Kauffman all tripled for Corriganville, and the latter also came through with a pair of singles. Wayne Miller tagged a double and single for the winners. David Brown and Larry Appel shared four of the Eagles' base knocks.

Tri-State's Ricky Wolford tossed a three-hitter and fanned ten as the Cresaptown outfit kept its slate clean. Rodney Long hit a double and single, and Donnie Pyles singled twice for Tri-State. Mike O'Donnell paced the Orioles with a two-bagger and single.

The linescores:

U.S. Wightman Cup Team Is Selected

CLEVELAND (AP)—The American team that will defend its title against Great Britain in the 1963 Wightman Cup matches here Aug. 10-11 was announced here Tuesday.

It will include Darlene Hard of Los Angeles, Nancy Richey of Dallas, Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., and Donna Floyd Fales of New York City.

Margaret Osborne DuPont, chairman of the Wightman Cup Committee, announced the selection of the team which will compete at the Cleveland Skating Club.

Cards Rehire Johnny Keane As 1964 Pilot

Manager And Devine Praised By Busch

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — St. Louis Cardinal owner August A. Busch Jr., Tuesday rehired manager Johnny Keane for the 1964 season and praised general manager Bing Devine, who works without a contract, for his job of rebuilding the team.

"I believe Bing and Johnny have done a remarkable job with the Cardinals this year on practically every level," Busch said. "that includes player procurement, player development and the management of the team itself."

Keane, 51, took over the Redbirds from Solly Hemus in July 1961 and has since piloted them to fifth and sixth place finishes.

This year the Cardinals have been in contention for the pennant throughout the season, despite the loss of such pitching talent as Larry Jackson and Lindy McDaniel who were dealt away in winter deals.

"Bing's trades and general leadership and Keane's field managing have, I believe, gotten the most out of the material available. It took a lot of courage on the part of Bing Devine to recommend giving up first-line players to plug the gaps in the Cardinal lineup," Busch said.

Keane, who has been with the Cardinal organization since he started in professional ball as a player and manager in 1930, piloted farm clubs for 17 years before finally making the big time. During that span he won five pennants, five playoff championships and one Dixie Series.

Reds Acquire Jim Coates

Assign Jim Owens To San Diego Club

CINCINNATI (UPI)—The Cincinnati Reds Tuesday bought pitcher Jim Coates from their San Diego farm club and assigned Jim Owens to the Padres outright.

Coates, a 6-foot-4, 180-pound righthander, went to San Diego early this month as part of the deal which sent Don Blasingame to the Washington Senators.

He will join the Reds in St. Louis Tuesday night where they open a three-game series with the Cardinals.

Coates, who will be 31 on Sunday, broke into the major leagues with the New York Yankees and during four full seasons from 1959 compiled a 37-15 record. He was traded to Washington after the 1962 season.

Owens, 29, used mainly in middle relief work by the Reds, had been obtained from Philadelphia last winter for infielder Cookie Rojas. Owens had an 0-2 mark with the Reds.

Los Angeles Swaps Roebuck To Senators For Marv Breeding

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Senators Tuesday announced a trade with the Los Angeles Dodgers that will bring the Senators relief pitcher Ed Roebuck and send infielder Marv Breeding to the Dodgers.

Roebuck, a right-hander, had a 10-2 record in 64 relief stints last year, but is only 2-4 in 29 games this season.

Breeding, 29, has batted .274 in 58 games. He has played at third and second base and shortstop.

Lonnie Lewis batted in five runs with a double and two singles as Gurley's racked up 12 hits and defeated the Toy Shop by the score of 8-3 yesterday in a High School Rec Baseball League game at Municipal Field.

Trailing 3-2, Manager Bill Garrett's team rallied for four runs in the fifth to put the game on ice.

Bill Rawnsley and Wayne Jewell, pitched for Fort Hill High School's championship team this year, opposed each other in yesterday's game and Rawnsley notched his fourth win against five losses. Jewell is 3-3 for the season.

Jimmie Graham, Gary Morgan and Jim Hudson collected two hits each for the victors. Rawnsley, Graham and Hudson smacked doubles. Perkins had three hits, including a homer in the first inning, and Mertens blasted a triple and single for the losers.

It was Gurley's third straight victory.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Realty Ramblings . . .

Dear Johnny:

Thanks for your letter. You're just about the last person in the world that I expected to hear from. But then I realized that you are no longer the lawn-mowing neighbor's kid I used to know, but the more mature college senior who will live next door to me this summer. I commenced to appreciate the reasons for your interest in the real estate business.

T. T. SUMMERS

You ask me what I think of the business from the standpoint of your entering it, and I can only answer you in short factual sentences.

Like any other business, it's rewarding in spirit and money if you take the time to learn it. It's a great opportunity to meet all different kinds of people, and to realize how much pleasure you can receive from just knowing them. It's hard work and long hours. It's filled with momentary disappointments which make for much discouragement. It's a business in which you must be completely honest if you are to survive. It's a business in which you can gain much satisfaction for the helpful service you can render to those with less knowledge of the realty market than you have. In short, it's as good a business as you want to make it. The business is here; whether you make it good or bad is up to you.

Come see us soon when you get home, we'll explain to you how honest, upright dealings have made our business one in which we can be justly proud.

Kindest regards,
Doc

Acting in my capacity as Auditor to the Board of Education of Allegany County, Maryland, I have audited, by tests and checks deemed adequate, and examined the Receipts and Disbursements of the General Account, including Capital Disbursements and Building Account, also Fort Hill Stadium and Beall Stadium Operations Accounts, and Maintenance Account. All Cash Balances on hand have been verified with depository statements.

I have also reviewed and examined reports of all subsidiary operations - viz: Cafeteria Account, Veterans' Training Account and Extra Curricular Account.

In my opinion the attached statements accurately set forth the Receipts and Disbursements of the several accounts and fairly present the results of operations of the Board of Education of Allegany County, Maryland, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1963.

Realty Ramblings . . .

Dear Johnny:

Thanks for your letter. You're just about the last person in the world that I expected to hear from. But then I realized that you are no longer the lawn-mowing neighbor's kid I used to know, but the more mature college senior who will live next door to me this summer. I commenced to appreciate the reasons for your interest in the real estate business.

T. T. SUMMERS

You ask me what I think of the business from the standpoint of your entering it, and I can only answer you in short factual sentences.

Like any other business, it's rewarding in spirit and money if you take the time to learn it. It's a great opportunity to meet all different kinds of people, and to realize how much pleasure you can receive from just knowing them. It's hard work and long hours. It's filled with momentary disappointments which make for much discouragement. It's a business in which you must be completely honest if you are to survive. It's a business in which you can gain much satisfaction for the helpful service you can render to those with less knowledge of the realty market than you have. In short, it's as good a business as you want to make it. The business is here; whether you make it good or bad is up to you.

Come see us soon when you get home, we'll explain to you how honest, upright dealings have made our business one in which we can be justly proud.

Kindest regards,
Doc

Acting in my capacity as Auditor to the Board of Education of Allegany County, Maryland, I have audited, by tests and checks deemed adequate, and examined the Receipts and Disbursements of the General Account, including Capital Disbursements and Building Account, also Fort Hill Stadium and Beall Stadium Operations Accounts, and Maintenance Account. All Cash Balances on hand have been verified with depository statements.

I have also reviewed and examined reports of all subsidiary operations - viz: Cafeteria Account, Veterans' Training Account and Extra Curricular Account.

In my opinion the attached statements accurately set forth the Receipts and Disbursements of the several accounts and fairly present the results of operations of the Board of Education of Allegany County, Maryland, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1963.

Two Indicted For Murder In Hampshire

Four Others Face Burglary Charges

A 37-year-old Hampshire County (W. Va.) man and his 14-year-old nephew both were indicted yesterday by the recalled Hampshire County Circuit Court grand jury on charges of murder and aiding and abetting in the commission of a murder.

Also indicted yesterday by the grand jury were four out-of-state residents charged with burglary last Thursday at the home of Wallace Smith about one-half mile west of Augusta on U.S. Route 50. They were apprehended later the same day by Cpl. Joseph Shrout of the West Virginia State Police at Moorefield.

Galen Harding, 37, of Hoy and his 14-year-old nephew were indicted for murder and aiding and abetting in the death July 10 of Clarence E. (Gypsy John) Wetzel, 26, also of Hoy.

Wetzel sustained a gunshot wound in the chest. He reportedly was shot on a dirt road near Hoy in the vicinity of what is known as a "gypsy camp." The camp is occupied by orchard workers.

West Virginia State Police said Harding and his nephew admitted firing a small calibre rifle in the direction of Wetzel but denied knowing Wetzel was wounded when they left the scene of a verbal altercation involving the three.

Wetzel's wife, Mrs. Missouri (Small) Wetzel, gave birth to a son in Hampshire Memorial Hospital in Romney the day after the shooting.

Harding is represented by Attorney Charles Bean and the boy by Attorney William H. Loy.

Indicted for breaking and entering the Wallace Smith home were James Sykes, 26, Cincinnati, Ohio; Tom Hammond, 44, Columbus, Ohio; Janet Fielden, 18, Summersville, Tenn., and Roberta Malone, 24, Washington Court House, Ohio.

All six pleaded not guilty when they were arraigned late yesterday in Romney.

Trial dates for the six will be set Monday by Judge H. Gus Muntzing. Prosecuting Attorney Loudoun L. Thompson presented the cases to the grand jury yesterday.

Street Being Widened

Baltimore Avenue between Henderson Avenue and Decatur Street will be three feet wider when work seen here is completed. The street is being widened by the Hout Construction Company for the City of Cumberland under a $4,621 contract. A similar project on South Centre Street, opposite the Liberty Trust Company building, is in the final stages.

City Budget Bids Total $1,880,500

Are $160,810 Over '62 Figure

Budget requests totaling $1,880,500 have been submitted to Comptroller Paul E. Rodecap, according to Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill.

These figures along with the 1962-1963 surplus of $271,675 will be vital in the budget discussions which will be started Friday night by the Mayor and Council.

Another vital factor is that most city workers will get automatic wage increases under the wage classification and pay plan adopted several years ago, and that social security and pension costs will go up in proportion to the amount of the increases.

Another factor is that quite a few items in the appropriation budget are mandatory and not subject to cutting. Examples are pensions, social security and hospitalization, and garbage and street lighting costs could be added to the list.

One items in last year's budget will be eliminated. It included a $2,500 item for libraries, and was the last payment on a $20,000 phase-out plan agreed upon when the Cumberland Free Public Library was turned over to the county.

One fertile field for budget cutting is in equipment sought by the various department heads, or funds for services which have been requested.

Scottish Visitor Sees Much Of United States

Christine W. Worsley of Dundee, Scotland, who will spend the month of September as a practice teacher in physical education at Fort Hill High School, already has seen more of the United States than many of its natives.

Her first duty here was to observe James P. Donahue, physical therapist at Memorial Hospital. Daily for about two weeks, Miss Worsley watched Mr. Donahue perform his physical therapy duties.

She explained that in Scotland the physical education program gives considerable emphasis on physio-therapy. Teachers prescribe corrective exercises when they observe certain physical defects in a child. Many of these involve posture problems, she said.

After her duties at Memorial Hospital were ended, the Scottish girl and her 20-year-old cousin, Lorraine Smith, took off for Washington. There they spent about three days and among other things they had the opportunity of visiting the White House and witnessing the movie "Cleopatra."

Going West

Last Saturday, the girl from Scotland and her cousin, who is completing her nurses' training at Memorial Hospital, were busy once again preparing for a second and longer trip. Mrs. Smith took them to the Queen City Station where at 2:45 a.m. Sunday they boarded a B&O train for Chicago and the start of a 14-day trip.

This rail trip will take them to Grand Canyon, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Las Vegas and a number of places considered tourist meccas.

Miss Worsley, who appears almost too dainty to be a physical education teacher, had some interesting observations to make about physical education here and in Scotland.

Little Math, Lots Of Gym

She has completed the second of her three years at the Dunfermline College of Physical Education in Aberdeen, Scotland. This is the only strictly physical education college in Scotland, a land of 30,411 square miles. That makes it not quite as large as South Carolina, the 40th in size of the 50 American states with an area of 31,055 square miles.

The three-year program includes little or nothing in such subjects as mathematics, history or political science.

But the physical education program is a broad one. She noted that in this country there is great stress on competitive games in physical education. In Scotland, gymnastics and various forms of dancing are given considerable emphasis, even more so than the games.

Newer schools in Scotland are being equipped with indoor swimming pools, and swimming is given an important place in the program.

Field Hockey, Anyone?

Miss Worsley hopes to have the opportunity of introducing field hockey for the girls at Fort Hill, although she acknowledged that the purchase of equipment for this sport may prove prohibitive.

The Scotch girl was born in Dundee in 1944 but spent her early childhood in Lima, Peru. She returned to Scotland in 1949. She spent the summer of 1954 visiting her aunt in Maryland. Mrs. Smith, who is a native of England, is a sister of the girl's mother.

After completing her college program, she would like to teach in one of the progressive Scottish counties. She particularly likes the County of Fife, but does not know where she might obtain a position.

The 19-year-old girl will return to Scotland in early October with a number of other girls from her land who have been spending the summer in the United States and Canada.

Runaway Cars Kill 2 Miners At Morgantown

Deer Park Man Dies Of Injuries

A 33-year-old Deer Park man was one of two coal miners fatally injured yesterday when the pair became trapped between a coal face and a line of runaway mine cars at the Fort Grand Mining Co., near Morgantown.

Thomas Ray Sweitzer, of RD 2, Deer Park, died of internal chest injuries shortly after being admitted to University Hospital in Morgantown yesterday afternoon. Phillip Lowe, 48, of Morgantown, died at the mine of a severed artery in his leg.

Mr. Sweitzer had been a coal miner for 10 years and was an employe of the Fort Grant Mining Co. for three years. He was a member of the Mine Workers of America, local 1060.

Born in Swanton, he was the son of Edward and Anna (Sweitzer) Sweitzer.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his wife, Dorothy (Bowers) Sweitzer; two sons, Thomas Ray Jr. and Roy Dale Sweitzer, at home; three sisters, Mrs. Hazel Shaffer and Mrs. Anna May Burns, both of Deer Park, and Mrs. Patsy Lloyd, Hagerstown; and seven brothers, Onie, Eugene, Vernon, Terry, Jerry and David Sweitzer, all of Deer Park.

The body will be at the residence Thursday.

A funeral service will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. at Deer Park Pentecostal Church by Rev. Gail Hixon, pastor.

Subdivision Plan Goes To City Council

Planning Unit Approves Draft

The Mayor and Council is expected Monday to take action on a proposal for regulating subdivisions within the City of Cumberland.

The proposed Subdivision Regulations, as amended in a series of meetings and a public hearing, were accepted by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission at a meeting in City Hall last night.

A corrected draft of the plan will be prepared today by John R. Joyner, a member of the firm of Stein and Marcou Associates, and presented to city officials.

James A. Avirett, vice chairman, asked to be recorded as recommending that the word's "by the subdivider," be deleted on Page 15, citing city policy providing a number of services.

The commission heard with pleasure a report by C. Lee Renoud, county planner, that the board of Allegany County commissioners yesterday adopted subdivision regulations for the county, effective September 15,

As a result of the county action the commission deleted a number of items which would have applied only in case the city chose to exercise extra-territorial control within a mile of the city limits.

It was pointed out that the City has the right to exercise such control without a statement of interest.

But Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill asked Mr. Joyner to confer with City Attorney High A. McMullen on the jurisdiction clause which points out the subdivision Regulations apply only within the city limits.

The commission passed on to a discussion on proposed zoning regulations after recommending the adoption of the subdivision plan.

Man Charged With Rape Of Oakland Woman

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—A Newbury Township man charged with rape in the slaying of a Baltimore divorcee asked for a preliminary hearing when arraigned Tuesday in Geauga Court at Middlefield.

A hearing for the accused, Andrey Junior Pavilsin, 22-year-old construction worker, was set for Aug. 6 by Judge Carl Hoffstetter. The judge also ordered Pavilsin held under $2,000 bond.

Sheriff Louis A. Robusky said Pavilsin and Ronald Jenkins, 18, a recent high school graduate from Newbury Township, both had admitted attacking the young divorcee slain July 22, Mrs. Norma Jean Burns, 20, of Baltimore, who was born and reared in Oakland, Md.

The sheriff said Jenkins also would be charged with rape.

The county coroner, Samuel R. Gerber, has ruled that Mrs. Burns was strangled.

Sheriff's deputies said they learned Mrs. Burns was in a tavern, became ill and fell off a bar stool. Witnesses also said two men put her in an automobile and drove off. That was the last time she was seen alive.

Mrs. Burns lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Clarke in Newbury Township, acting as a full-time baby sitter for the couple's children.

The Clarkes told deputies Mrs. Burns had been critically injured in a Maryland traffic accident in March, 1961, in which her two infant daughters were killed.

County Tax Discount Will Drop

Today Is Last At Four Per Cent

Today is the last day for Allegany County taxpayers to take advantage of the four per cent discount on county real estate and personal property taxes at the office of County Tax Collector Francis G. Philpot in the Court House.

The office will be opened from 8:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. but mailed returns postmarked before midnight tonight also will be entitled to the four per cent discount on county taxes.

Mr. Philpot's office does not have a breakdown on the amount of county real estate and personal property taxes which have been paid so far in July. The office does report that the total July collections, including state, county and special taxing area taxes, totaled $117,593.55 through Monday.

About $10,000 more was received yesterday.

Total June collections for state, county and the four special taxing areas — LaVale, Cresaptown, Mt. Savage and Potomac Park—were $3,526,635.36 but Mr. Philpot said yesterday the division of these collections has not yet been completed.

A year ago, when the county tax rate was $1.85 compared with the present $2.05 on each $100 of assessed valuation, June collections in county taxes were $2,803,842.42 and July $118,915.56.

With the arrival of August the discount on county taxes drops to three per cent. In September the net amount will be due without either discount or interest. The interest, at one-half per cent per month, starts October 1.

Former Local Woman's Son At NATO Meet

John Herman, Manchester, Mass., son of Mrs. Juanita Herman, a former resident of 411 Decatur Street, was one of three scientists who represented the U. S. government at a NATO scientific conference in Europe this month.

Mr. Herman presented two technical papers at the conference held in Athens, Greece, July 8-10. Other papers were presented by 22 scientists from Germany, Norway, France, Canada, England, Greece and the United States.

The theme of the conference was "Radio Communications in and to Arctic Regions", and Mr. Herman spoke on "Radio Noise Problems in Arctic Regions", and "Reception of Mid-Latitude Transmissions in Northern Canada." The second paper was co-authored by Dr. R. B. Penndorf of the Geophysics Section at AVCO Corporation. The papers were based on research sponsored by the Air Force and National Science Foundation through contracts to AVCO's Research and Advanced Development Division in Wilmington, Mass.

Mr. Herman was also invited to participate in the 13th General Assembly of the Advisory Group for Aeronautical Research and Development (AGARD) held in the amphitheater at the foot of the Acropolis.

Inspection Team Will Give Report

One building was placarded and two dwelling structures were inspected yesterday afternoon by the City Board of Health inspection team.

A "vacate or repair" placard was placed upon a dwelling on Spruce Alley and inspections were made of two double houses on Glenwood Street and a dwelling on Hanover Street.

A report of the results of the inspection will be presented to the Board of Health at its next meeting on Friday, August 16, at 2 p. m. in City Hall.

Making the inspection were George Scarlett, city building inspector, Edward Trost, Fire Department inspector, and Gaylord Brooks, senior sanitarian for the Allegany County Health Department.

Two Damage Suits Filed In Court

Two damage suits against Hazel M. Sisler of Oldtown were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One suit was brought by Mrs. Juanita V. Carder, RFD 1, Oldtown, who was driving her husband's automobile west on State Route 51 about noon April 14 while the defendant was driving east on the same road. The declaration charged that the Sisler woman's car crossed the centerline and struck the Carder vehicle, virtually demolishing it and causing severe shock to Mrs. Carder's nervous system.

The woman's husband, Charles Floyd Carder, brought suit for hospital, medical and household expenses incurred as well as the loss of his wife's services.

Possible Theft

Raymond N. McKenney, 11 Bellevue Street, reported to local detectives that a watch belonging to him has been missing from his home for about three weeks. He said that the watch was worth about $100.

Health Dept. Revises Septic Tank Controls

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Department of Health bowed to real estate and building interests' protests Tuesday and revised its proposed new controls on the use of wells and septic tanks in new subdivisions.

Realtors at a public hearing had said the stringent controls would bring new home construction to a virtual standstill.

The revised regulations will be submitted to another public hearing before being turned over to the State Board of Health and Mental Hygiene for enactment. The new regulations will replace the 1953 code.

Under the revised new code, all lots using wells or septic tanks must measure at least 100 feet in width and occupy 1-3 acre.

Each individual lot will be tested to see if its soil is porous enough to allow the waste to get away using the septic tanks. In the other draft, the porous quality of adjoining land would have been taken into consideration.

"We are convinced that these regulations are consistent with public health requirements, and that they also meet the objections of the developers," said W. MacLean Bingley, public health engineer.

Successful CUF Drive Anticipated

A business executive who discovered the true generosity of the people of Allegany and Mineral counties last year is confident that these same people can be counted on again this year in the 1963 County United Fund campaign.

Alvin H. Wilson, president of the George F. Hazelwood Company, last year was CUF's general chairman of the biggest campaign ever held in CUF's six-year history.

"Generous, responsible and warm-hearted people of Allegany and Mineral counties," he said, "made gifts to their less-fortunate fellow man in the amount of $395,176.51".

This amount was the most ever raised in these two counties for any health, social service and youth purpose and led Mr. Wilson to comment that last year's campaign is a "true indicator that the entire community has accepted the United Way as the best means of looking after those who through no fault of their own, are not able to look after themselves.

A seasoned veteran in the benevolent work of County United Fund, having participated in community campaigns since coming to this area from Calvert County in 1925, Mr. Wilson said that he is confident once again that, through United Giving, people of the area will unite behind this year's campaign leaders in their fight against poverty, disease and sickness and their promotion of good health and juvenile decency.

Mr. Wilson concluded that organization wheels are turning for the 1963 campaign and announced that Walter E. Dyck, plant manager of Works 7, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, already has begun setting up his plans for the big 1963 drive, the goal for which will be announced in the near future.

Hyndman Man Found Dead Of Gunshot Wound

An elderly Hyndman man died at his home yesterday as a result of a gunshot wound. Joseph M. Korns, 74, of RD 1, Hyndman, was found dead in his yard at 11:40 a. m. yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Alice (Boyer) Korns.

The death is being investigated by the Bedford County cornor's office and Pennsylvania State Police. J. Ralph Nicol, coroner, ruled that the death was a suicide, and said Mr. Korns had been ill for some time.

Born in Wellersburg, he was the son of the late Jacob and Margaret (Burkett) Korns.

He was a member of the United Church of Christ and of Cumberland Eagles Aerie 245.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two sons, Merle, at home, and James Korns, Bedford Road; two brothers, Mahlan and Sherman Korn, both of RD 1, Hyndman; a sister, Mrs. Wesley Llewellyn, Bedford Road; and three grandchildren.

The body is at the Zeigler Funeral Home, Hyndman, where friends will be received today from 7 until 9 p. m. and tomorrow from 2 until 4 and 7 until 9 p. m.

Man Injured On Turnpike

A Pennsylvania man was hospitalized and $14,000 worth of damage was done to the tractor-trailer he was driving when he apparently fell asleep on the turnpike yesterday morning and rammed into the rear of a second tractor-trailer.

According to State Police at Everett, the accident occurred at 4:05 a. m. 19 miles west of the Bedford interchange.

Course Set For Swim Instructors

Two Indicted For Murder In Hampshire

Four Others Face Burglary Charges

A 37-year-old Hampshire County (W. Va.) man and his 14-year-old nephew both were indicted yesterday by the recalled Hampshire County Circuit Court grand jury on charges of murder and aiding and abetting in the commission of a murder.

Also indicted yesterday by the grand jury were four out-of-state residents charged with burglary last Thursday at the home of Wallace Smith about one-half mile west of Augusta on U.S. Route 50. They were apprehended later the same day by Cpl. Joseph Shrout of the West Virginia State Police at Moorefield.

Galen Harding, 37, of Hoy and his 14-year-old nephew were indicted for murder and aiding and abetting in the death July 10 of Clarence E. (Gypsy John) Wetzel, 26, also of Hoy.

The grand jury had sat regularly at the Court House in Romney on Tuesday, July 2, before these incidents occurred.

Wetzel sustained a gunshot wound in the chest. He reportedly was shot on a dirt road near Hoy in the vicinity of what is known as a "gypsy camp." The camp is occupied by orchard workers.

West Virginia State Police said Harding and his nephew admitted firing a small calibre rifle in the direction of Wetzel but denied knowing Wetzel was wounded when they left the scene of a verbal altercation involving the three.

Wetzel's wife, Mrs. Missouri (Small) Wetzel, gave birth to a son in Hampshire Memorial Hospital in Romney the day after the shooting.

Harding is represented by Attorney Charles Bean and the boy by Attorney William H. Loy.

Indicted for breaking and entering the Wallace Smith home were James Sykes, 26, Cincinnati, Ohio; Tom Hammond, 44, Columbus, Ohio; Janet Fielden, 18, Summersville, Tenn., and Roberta Malone, 24, Washington Court House, Ohio.

All six pleaded not guilty when they were arraigned late yesterday in Romney.

Trial dates for the six will be set Monday by Judge H. Gus Muntzing. Prosecuting Attorney Loudoun L. Thompson presented the cases to the grand jury yesterday.

The death is being investigated by the Bedford County cornor's office and Pennsylvania State Police. J. Ralph Nicol, coroner, ruled that the death was a suicide, and said Mr. Korns had been ill for some time.

Born in Wellersburg, he was the son of the late Jacob and Margaret (Burkett) Korns.

He was a member of the United Church of Christ and of Cumberland Eagles Aerie 245.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two sons, Merle, at home, and James Korns, Bedford Road; two brothers, Mahlan and Sherman Korn, both of RD 1, Hyndman; a sister, Mrs. Wesley Llewellyn, Bedford Road; and three grandchildren.

Man Charged With Rape Of Oakland Woman

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—A Newbury Township man charged with rape in the slaying of a Baltimore divorcee asked for a preliminary hearing when arraigned Tuesday in Geauga Court at Middlefield.

A hearing for the accused, Andrey Junior Pavilsin, 22-year-old construction worker, was set for Aug. 6 by Judge Carl Hoffstetter. The judge also ordered Pavilsin held under $2,000 bond.

Sheriff Louis A. Robusky said Pavilsin and Ronald Jenkins, 18, a recent high school graduate from Newbury Township, both had admitted attacking the young divorcee slain July 22, Mrs. Norma Jean Burns, 20, of Baltimore, who was born and reared in Oakland, Md.

The sheriff said Jenkins also would be charged with rape.

The county coroner, Samuel R. Gerber, has ruled that Mrs. Burns was strangled.

Sheriff's deputies said they learned Mrs. Burns was in a tavern, became ill and fell off a bar stool. Witnesses also said two men put her in an automobile and drove off. That was the last time she was seen alive.

Mrs. Burns lived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Clarke in Newbury Township, acting as a full-time baby sitter for the couple's children.

The Clarkes told deputies Mrs. Burns had been critically injured in a Maryland traffic accident in March, 1961, in which her two infant daughters were killed.

According to State Police at Everett, the accident occurred at 4:05 a. m. 19 miles west of the Bedford interchange.

County Tax Discount Will Drop

Today Is Last At Four Per Cent

Today is the last day for Allegany County taxpayers to take advantage of the four per cent discount on county real estate and personal property taxes at the office of County Tax Collector Francis G. Philpot in the Court House.

The office will be opened from 8:30 a. m. until 4 p. m. but mailed returns postmarked before midnight tonight also will be entitled to the four per cent discount on county taxes.

Mr. Philpot's office does not have a breakdown on the amount of county real estate and personal property taxes which have been paid so far in July. The office does report that the total July collections, including state, county and special taxing area taxes, totaled $117,593.55 through Monday.

About $10,000 more was received yesterday.

Total June collections for state, county and the four special taxing areas — LaVale, Cresaptown, Mt. Savage and Potomac Park—were $3,526,635.36 but Mr. Philpot said yesterday the division of these collections has not yet been completed.

A year ago, when the county tax rate was $1.85 compared with the present $2.05 on each $100 of assessed valuation, June collections in county taxes were $2,803,842.42 and July $118,915.56.

With the arrival of August the discount on county taxes drops to three per cent. In September the net amount will be due without either discount or interest. The interest, at one-half per cent per month, starts October 1.

City Budget Bids Total $1,880,500

Are $160,810 Over '62 Figure

Budget requests totaling $1,880,500 have been submitted to Comptroller Paul E. Rodecap, according to Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill.

These figures along with the 1962-1963 surplus of $271,675 will be vital in the budget discussions which will be started Friday night by the Mayor and Council.

Another vital factor is that most city workers will get automatic wage increases under the wage classification and pay plan adopted several years ago, and that social security and pension costs will go up in proportion to the amount of the increases.

Another factor is that quite a few items in the appropriation budget are mandatory and not subject to cutting. Examples are pensions, social security and hospitalization, and garbage and street lighting costs could be added to the list.

One items in last year's budget will be eliminated. It included a $2,500 item for libraries, and was the last payment on a $20,000 phase-out plan agreed upon when the Cumberland Free Public Library was turned over to the county.

One fertile field for budget cutting is in equipment sought by the various department heads, or funds for services which have been requested.

Inspection Team Will Give Report

One building was placarded and two dwelling structures were inspected yesterday afternoon by the City Board of Health inspection team.

A "vacate or repair" placard was placed upon a dwelling on Spruce Alley and inspections were made of two double houses on Glenwood Street and a dwelling on Hanover Street.

A report of the results of the inspection will be presented to the Board of Health at its next meeting on Friday, August 16, at 2 p. m. in City Hall.

Making the inspection were George Scarlett, city building inspector, Edward Trost, Fire Department inspector, and Gaylord Brooks, senior sanitarian for the Allegany County Health Department.

Two Damage Suits Filed In Court

Two damage suits against Hazel M. Sisler of Oldtown were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One suit was brought by Mrs. Juanita V. Carder, RFD 1, Oldtown, who was driving her husband's automobile west on State Route 51 about noon April 14 while the defendant was driving east on the same road. The declaration charged that the Sisler woman's car crossed the centerline and struck the Carder vehicle, virtually demolishing it and causing severe shock to Mrs. Carder's nervous system.

The woman's husband, Charles Floyd Carder, brought suit for hospital, medical and household expenses incurred as well as the loss of his wife's services.

Possible Theft

Raymond N. McKenney, 11 Bellevue Street, reported to local detectives that a watch belonging to him has been missing from his home for about three weeks. He said that the watch was worth about $100.

Scottish Visitor Sees Much Of United States

Christine W. Worsley of Dundee, Scotland, who will spend the month of September as a practice teacher in physical education at Fort Hill High School, already has seen more of the United States than many of its natives.

Her first duty here was to observe James P. Donahue, physical therapist at Memorial Hospital. Daily for about two weeks, Miss Worsley watched Mr. Donahue perform his physical therapy duties.

She explained that in Scotland the physical education program gives considerable emphasis on physio-therapy. Teachers prescribe corrective exercises when they observe certain physical defects in a child. Many of these involve posture problems, she said.

After her duties at Memorial Hospital were ended, the Scottish girl and her 20-year-old cousin, Lorraine Smith, took off for Washington. There they spent about three days and among other things they had the opportunity of visiting the White House and witnessing the movie "Cleopatra."

Going West

Last Saturday, the girl from Scotland and her cousin, who is completing her nurses' training at Memorial Hospital, were busy once again preparing for a second and longer trip. Mrs. Smith took them to the Queen City Station where at 2:45 a.m. Sunday they boarded a B&O train for Chicago and the start of a 14-day trip.

This rail trip will take them to Grand Canyon, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Las Vegas and a number of places considered tourist meccas.

Miss Worsley, who appears almost too dainty to be a physical education teacher, had some interesting observations to make about physical education here and in Scotland.

Little Math, Lots Of Gym

She has completed the second of her three years at the Dunfermline College of Physical Education in Aberdeen, Scotland. This is the only strictly physical education college in Scotland, a land of 30,411 square miles. That makes it not quite as large as South Carolina, the 40th in size of the 50 American states with an area of 31,055 square miles.

The three-year program includes little or nothing in such subjects as mathematics, history or political science.

But the physical education program is a broad one. She noted that in this country there is great stress on competitive games in physical education. In Scotland, gymnastics and various forms of dancing are given considerable emphasis, even more so than the games.

Newer schools in Scotland are being equipped with indoor swimming pools, and swimming is given an important place in the program.

Field Hockey, Anyone?

Miss Worsley hopes to have the opportunity of introducing field hockey for the girls at Fort Hill, although she acknowledged that the purchase of equipment for this sport may prove prohibitive.

The Scotch girl was born in Dundee in 1944 but spent her early childhood in Lima, Peru. She returned to Scotland in 1949. She spent the summer of 1954 visiting her aunt in Maryland. Mrs. Smith, who is a native of England, is a sister of the girl's mother.

After completing her college program, she would like to teach in one of the progressive Scottish counties. She particularly likes the County of Fife, but does not know where she might obtain a position.

The 19-year-old girl will return to Scotland in early October with a number of other girls from her land who have been spending the summer in the United States and Canada.

Subdivision Plan Goes To City Council

Planning Unit Approves Draft

The Mayor and Council is expected Monday to take action on a proposal for regulating subdivisions within the City of Cumberland.

The proposed Subdivision Regulations, as amended in a series of meetings and a public hearing, were accepted by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission at a meeting in City Hall last night.

A corrected draft of the plan will be prepared today by John R. Joyner, a member of the firm of Stein and Marcou Associates, and presented to city officials.

James A. Avirett, vice chairman, asked to be recorded as recommending that the word's "by the subdivider," be deleted on Page 15, citing city policy providing a number of services.

The commission heard with pleasure a report by C. Lee Renoud, county planner, that the board of Allegany County commissioners yesterday adopted subdivision regulations for the county, effective September 15.

As a result of the county action the commission deleted a number of items which would have applied only in case the city chose to exercise extra-territorial control within a mile of the city limits.

It was pointed out that the City has the right to exercise such control without a statement of interest.

But Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill asked Mr. Joyner to confer with City Attorney High A. McMullen on the jurisdiction clause which points out the subdivision Regulations apply only within the city limits.

Health Dept. Revises Septic Tank Controls

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Department of Health bowed to real estate and building interests' protests Tuesday and revised its proposed new controls on the use of wells and septic tanks in new subdivisions.

Realtors at a public hearing had said the stringent controls would bring new home construction to a virtual standstill.

The revised regulations will be submitted to another public hearing before being turned over to the State Board of Health and Mental Hygiene for enactment. The new regulations will replace the 1953 code.

Under the revised new code, all lots using wells or septic tanks must measure at least 100 feet in width and occupy 1-3 acre.

Each individual lot will be tested to see if its soil is porous enough to allow the waste to get away using the septic tanks. In the other draft, the porous quality of adjoining land would have been taken into consideration.

"We are convinced that these regulations are consistent with public health requirements, and that they also meet the objections of the developers," said W. MacLean Bingley, public health engineer.

Successful CUF Drive Anticipated

A business executive who discovered the true generosity of the people of Allegany and Mineral counties last year is confident that these same people can be counted on again this year in the 1963 County United Fund campaign.

Alvin H. Wilson, president of the George F. Hazelwood Company, last year was CUF's general chairman of the biggest campaign ever held in CUF's six-year history.

"Generous, responsible and warm-hearted people of Allegany and Mineral counties," he said, "made gifts to their less-fortunate fellow man in the amount of $395,176.51".

This amount was the most ever raised in these two counties for any health, social service and youth purpose and led Mr. Wilson to comment that last year's campaign is a "true indicator that the entire community has accepted the United Way as the best means of looking after those who through no fault of their own, are not able to look after themselves.

A seasoned veteran in the benevolent work of County United Fund, having participated in community campaigns since coming to this area from Calvert County in 1925, Mr. Wilson said that he is confident once again that, through United Giving, people of the area will unite behind this year's campaign leaders in their fight against poverty, disease and sickness and their promotion of good health and juvenile decency.

Mr. Wilson concluded that organization wheels are turning for the 1963 campaign and announced that Walter E. Dyck, plant manager of Works 7, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, already has begun setting up his plans for the big 1963 drive, the goal for which will be announced in the near future.
